'We'll Wait and See,' Says Leader

Arabs Wary Over Israel's Plans To Pull Out of Gaza

Ike Requests Middle East Plan Support

Asks Senate To Kill Proposal Aimed at Limiting Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked the Senate today to defeat a proposal to strip the Middle East resolution of its economic aid authority lest he be denied power to deal with "the danger of subversion."

The President's plea was read to the Senate by Republican leader Knowland of California as its members gathered for a crucial test vote on the resolution.

Would Deny Authority

The test shaped up on an amendment which would deny the President emergency authority to spend 200 million dollars for military and economic assistance to the critical area in the next four months.

Eisenhower said he feared adoption of the amendment, sponsored by Sen Russell (D-Ga) and others, would be interpreted abroad as an indication "our country wants to wage peace only in terms of war."

The Russell amendment would limit the resolution to a pledge to use our armed forces if necessary to help Middle East nations resist armed aggression by international communism.

The President's request for economic aid authority was aimed at strengthening the economies of Middle East nations and making them less likely prey for Red subversion.

Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) told the Senate he is willing to trust Eisenhower to spend the 200 million dollar aid fund "prudently."

Shows Prudence

Lausche said the fact that Eisenhower had spent only 5 million out of a special 100 million dollar aid fund on which restrictions were attached "indicates prudence on the part of the President."

"I am willing to trust, in this emergency, this administration to use the money that will be available to it if this bill passes," the senator said. He added that he plans to make a fight to "taper off" general foreign aid when a

PAVING WAY FOR ISRAELI TROOP WITHDRAWAL. Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the United Nations emergency forces in Egypt, inspects a Norwegian honor guard on arriving at El Arish to discuss training plans in that area. With Israel reportedly ready to withdraw troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba, the U.N. has arranged for replacements, and these soldiers may be among those assigned.

Feel Attempt At Sanctions Still Possible

Will Renew Demand Monday Unless Army Actually Is Recalled

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Arab delegates to the U.N. took a wary view today of Israel's announcement of its plans for the "full and prompt withdrawal" of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and Aqaba coast areas.

"We will see," Abdul Monem Rifa'i of Jordan, chairman of the 27-nation Asian-African bloc in the U.N., told newsmen. "First let us find out what happens over the weekend. On Monday our group will have its say."

Similar View in Washington

In Washington, where Secretary of State Dulles sought to convince Arab diplomats that no deal was involved in winning Israel's agreement to pull out of the two areas, nine Arab envoys took a similar view. They told reporters they would "wait and see."

Rifa'i said his group considered the Asian-Arab resolution in the General Assembly demanding sanctions against Israel for not withdrawing still very much alive. Arab diplomats indicated they would press for adoption of the resolution when the Assembly reconvenes Monday if Israel has not quit both Aqaba and Gaza.

Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel's foreign minister, made the expected announcement that Israeli troops woud withdraw at Friday's Assembly session. While she fixed no conditions for the pullout, she said the decision was made on the assumption that units of the U.N. Emergency Force in Egypt would move into the Gaza and Aqaba areas.

Seek To Protect Interests

Mrs. Meir emphasized that Israel reserved the right to protect its interests if Egypt should try to resume its ban on Israeli shipping moving through the Gulf of Aqaba to the Israeli port of Eilat or if infiltration attacks into Israel from the Gaza Strip are renewed.

She called for talks between Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli army chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, UNEF commander, to work out details of the Israeli withdrawal and the entry of U.N. forces. In Cairo, Burns said his troops could move in quickly as the Israelis withdraw.

In Jerusalem, Israeli officials said Burns and Dayan had planned to meet today at the Lydda airport near Tel Aviv but postponed the talks until Sunday.

In Israel, strong political reaction met the government's decision to pull out the troops. The right wing Herut (Freedom) party, second largest in the country and main opposition group, called for nationwide demonstrations against the move.

Marion's Pool Group Issued State Charter

Unit To Seek Pledges For Money To Build New Facility in City

A state charter was issued Friday by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown to "The Marion Community Swimming Pool, Inc.," the nonprofit organization formed to raise funds, design and build a swimming pool in Marion.

The announcement from Mr. Brown's office that the charter was issued noted that the five trustees are George Howser, T. L. Hufert, Thomas H. Clark, Rodney S. Cox and Harold Henry and its principle office is listed as located at 228 E. Center St.

Cards To Be Mailed

Letters and pledge cards seeking donations to provide money to construct the pool, estimated to cost $173,000 are to be mailed out to 17,000 homes in Marion County within the next two weeks by the organization.

The pledge cards will ask for a pledge for a cash donation to be collected only if the total of all pledges is large enough to assure construction of the pool. If the total of pledges is large enough, the plan is to collect the money May 1. Until it is determined whether the total pledged is sufficient, no money or check donations are to be submitted.

Depends on Response

If the response to the letters and pledge cards is not good, the public subscription method for raising the funds likely will be dropped.

But if the response is good and the total not sufficient to build the pool, the campaign will be extended to include requests for donations from business, industries and professions.

Exactly when the letters and pledge cards will be mailed out is not known. The mailing date will depend on how long it takes to complete the preparation of the materials and the addressing of the letters.

Mrs. Irene E Cooper and Gordon (Tony) Mason were both held for investigation. Police said Mason admitted beating the child with a strap because of his behavior.

Will Ask About Offer

Senators Hoping To Question Beck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators said today they want to question Teamsters Union chiefs Dave Beck and Frank Brewster on whether they offered a $10,000 political contribution in an effort to get a teamsters man on the Oregon Liquor Commission.

Charges to that effect were made Friday before the special Senate Rackets Committee by Howard Morgan, Oregon Public Utilities Commissioner and former Democratic state chairman. Morgan said teamsters officials tried to "take over law enforcement" in the entire state of Oregon.

Hearings in Recess

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, said in an interview he wants to ask Beck and Brewster about Morgan's testimony when they appear before the committee.

The hearings are in recess until Tuesday because chairman McClellan (D-Ark) says "we all need a rest."

Beck is national president of the 1½ million member Teamsters Union, the nation's largest single labor organization. Brewster heads the union's powerful 11-state western conference of teamsters.

Beck has been invited to testify before the special group. He now is in Europe but is due back late this month. Brewster has been cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions in an earlier Senate investigation of alleged tieups between racketeers and some labor union officials.

Concentrating on Portland

The special Senate group, now conducting a search for evidence of underworld influence in labor and industry, currently is concentrating on the situation in Portland, Ore.

Morgan testified he was told last September by Manton Spear, Portland beer distributor, that the teamsters were willing to pay $10,000 into the campaign fund of Democratic gubernatorial nominee Robert Holmes to get one of their members or somebody else "acceptable" to them named to the state liquor commission.

Morgan said he turned down the idea, and that Holmes indignantly did likewise. Holmes was elected governor in November.

Morgan said Spear told him "Beck and Brewster were the source" of the alleged scheme. He said Spear informed him the teamsters wanted to be able to block any state liquor purchases of brands made by eastern distilleries having labor troubles with the teamsters. All retail liquor sales in Oregon are made by the state.

Spear denied mentioning any $10,000 figure to Morgan. But he conceded, under questioning he must have mentioned that "the union would contribute" in an effort to get a man on the liquor commission. He recalled having spoken to Morgan of the plan to block state purchases of certain brand liquors.

Gunmen Hold Up Irish Train

Cars Sent Speeding Away Without Crew

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three masked gunmen held up a train inside the Irish Republic today, forced its crew off and then sent the unmanned locomotive and 27 freight cars speeding into Northern Ireland.

The 90-ton engine — its throttle wide open — gradually lost speed. It tumbled into the main railroad terminus at Londonderry and rammed into a concrete wall.

The locomotive tore five feet into the concrete barrier while the freight cars telescoped and piled up behind it.

No casualties were reported.

Northern Ireland is a part of the United Kingdom. The outlawed Irish Republican Army has been conducting a campaign to make the six counties of Northern Ireland part of the independent Southern Irish Republic.

O'Neills Moving Into New Mansion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. and Mrs. C. William O'Neill and their two children start their transfer today from their home in Upper Arlington to the new governor's mansion in Bexley.

They plan to occupy second-floor living quarters in the former Jeffrey estate at 358 N. Park View Ave., until remodeling of the English Tudor mansion is complete.

The new mansion was turned over to the state more than a year ago by the Rev. and Mrs. Charles U Harris of Chicago.

The old mansion, at 1234 E. Broad St has not been occupied since interim Gov. and Mrs. John W. Brown lived there briefly between former Gov. Frank J. Lausche's departure for Washington to become a U. S. senator and the Jan. 14 inauguration of O'Neill.

Pope Is 81 Years Old

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII marked his 81st birthday today. It also was the 18th anniversary of his election as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

Vatican sources said he followed his usual schedule, celebrating mass in his private chapel and then going about his regular work.

State To Drop Murder Count In Grimes Case

CHICAGO (AP) — Murder charges against Edward (Benny) Bedwell, 21-year-old Skid Row drifter, in the slaying of the Grimes sisters, are to be dropped, says State's Atty. Benjamin Adamowski.

Adamowski said Friday the state will ask dismissal of the charges when Bedwell appears in court Monday. Bedwell, who confessed killing the sisters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, and then retracted the statement, has been free on $20,000 bond.

"It would be folly to prolong this unfortunate incident beyond that date (Monday)," Adamowski said.

Bedwell, in his statement which he later repudiated, said he and another man killed the girls on Jan. 13 after a week of drinking and living in hotels in the skid row district.

The girls disappeared from home Dec 28 after attending a movie. Their naked, frozen bodies were found in a roadside ditch near suburban Willow Springs Jan. 22. Medical reports showed they had died a few hours after leaving home and their death was attributed to exposure to the cold.

Adamowski said although several witnesses have reported seeing Bedwell with the Grimes girls after Jan. 1, "it is my honest conviction that these witnesses are mistaken."

Jurors Indict Lawmaker on Bribe Charges

Texas Representative Denies Taking Fund To Work To Kill Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — James C. Cox, a member of the Texas House of Representatives, was indicted Friday by the Travis County grand jury of "unlawfully, willfully and corruptly" agreeing to accept a $5,000 bribe from Dr. Howard Harmon.

Cox has filed countercharges against Harmon.

The 36-year-old Conroe, Tex., lawmaker was charged with agreeing to use his influence to kill a bill which, in effect, would have outlawed the practice of naturopathy in Texas. The indictment accused Cox of agreeing to accept the money from Harmon, of San Antonio, president of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Assn.

The grand jury action came while a Texas House of Representatives committee conducted its own investigation.

The indictment alleged that on Feb. 20 Cox agreed to accept the money with the understanding the "work of the said James C. Cox would be given and rendered to defeat the passage of HB274." House bill 274 was a proposed act that would have outlawed the practice of naturopathy in the state.

The House committee heard two men testify Cox had said he never intended to keep the $5,000.

A countercharge of bribery was filed in Austin Friday against Harmon on the complaint of Cox. Both men deny the charges.

Harmon had said he rigged a tape recorder in his Austin hotel room and made a recording of the alleged conversation in which Cox asked for the $5,000. The recording was given to authorities, Harmon said.

Talbott, Ex-Head Of Air Force, Dies

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Harold E. Talbott, capitalist and former secretary of the Air Force, died early today at the home of Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham, where he was a house guest. He was 69.

Talbott was a long-time friend of Mrs. Bingham's husband, a pioneer Florida real estate man.

Talbott resigned his Air Force post in August 1955 after a controversy over his private business interests.

Associated with the airplane industry from its earliest years, he was president of the Dayton Wright Airplane Co. from 1914 until 1920 and was director of aircraft production and the war production board during World War II. He was chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee in 1948.

Kansas City Man Chosen

Whittaker Named To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated U. S Circuit Judge Charles Evans Whittaker of Kansas City, Mo., to be an associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Whittaker, a Republican, is 56 years old.

The appointment is to fill the vacancy created by the retirement on Feb. 25 of Stanley F. Reed, a Democrat who sat on the court for more than 19 years.

The selection, if confirmed by the Senate, will make the composition of the court five Democrats and four Republicans.

It is Eisenhower's fourth appointment and the third Republican picked by him. His other appointments were Chief Justice Warren and Justice Harlan, Republicans, and Justice Brennan, a Democrat. Brennan's nomination has not yet been confirmed, although he has been sitting with the court under a recess appointment since last fall.

Judge Whittaker, a native of Troy, Kan., previously had been nominated to the federal bench twice by Eisenhower.

He was named federal judge for the Western District of Missouri July 8, 1954, and moved up to the Eighth Circuit bench on June 5, 1956. Judge Whittaker's chambers for the circuit are in Kansas City. The Eighth Circuit includes Minnesota, Iowa, Arkansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

Israel Cabinet Called to Top Secret Parley

JERUSALEM (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion, in an unprecedented break of the Jewish Sabbath, summoned his cabinet into a top secret meeting today.

Although it was obvious the meeting was concerned with the Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba, it was shrouded in the deepest secrecy. No official was in a position to say why the cabinet had so unexpectedly been called together.

Reports that a meeting between UNEF Commander Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns and Israeli army Chief of Staff Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, set for this afternoon, had been postponed until Sunday, sparked rumors the cabinet is reconsidering the withdrawal. But Israeli officials said that was "mere speculation."

Heavy 'Quake Rocks Jamaica

Woman Killed, Four Others Suffer Injury

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The heaviest earthquake in 50 years rocked Jamaica Friday night, killing a woman and injuring four other persons.

Property damage was not heavy. Electric power and telephone services were broken for a time, but quickly restored. At Montego Bay, a port city in northwest Jamaica, a steeple of a 200-year-old church collapsed and the walls of many houses were cracked.

No damage was reported in the Montego Bay and Ocho Rios hotel areas, where the winter season is in full swing, except for glassware and other fragile articles in bars and stores.

Railways service to Montego Bay was closed by damage to a tunnel. This was expected to be repaired today.

There were two shocks, a light one at 7:29 p.m., followed by a heavy tremor. Patrons of hotels, movies, cafes and bars rushed into the streets in panic.

Vice Air Marshal Killed

OTTAWA (AP) — Eight Canadian military men—including Air Vice Marshal Robert C. Ripley—were killed Friday night when an RCAF plane apparently exploded and crashed 12 miles from Ottawa. There were no survivors.

Visits Sultan of Morocco

Nixon Gets Big Welcome On First Stop in Africa

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Sultan Mohammed V has termed President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine a wise plan after hearing Vice President Nixon explain its terms.

Nixon received an enthusiastic welcome in this newly independent country, his first stop on an eight-country flying tour of Africa. The vice president was to leave today for the Gold Coast to attend ceremonies converting that British colony into the independent nation of Ghana.

Moslem Leader

Morocco's ruling sultan has indicated previously he was receptive to the Eisenhower plan seeking to guard the Middle East from communism, but had not taken a public stand. Morocco is not considered part of the Middle East, but the Sultan has influence in that area as a Moslem leader.

A palace spokesman said Nixon explained the Eisenhower policy after his arrival here Friday as one designed to maintain the independence of the Middle East countries and to provide economic aid.

The Sultan then informed Nixon that the U.S. policy is a wise one, the spokesman said. He also praised both Eisenhower and Nixon as friends of Morocco.

Meets Mrs. Nixon

The Moroccan ruler held a separate audience with Mrs. Nixon at his gleaming white palace — the first American woman to be given a private audience with him.

After a 15-minute chat, the Sultan called in his 2-year-old daughter, Princess Lalla Amina. She promptly sat on Mrs. Nixon's lap.

Thousands of Arabs at the airport and lining the roads cheered the Nixon party, crying "Nixon, Nixon" and "long live America."

Settlement Sought

U.S. Hoping for Rapid Israeli Troop Pullouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials expressed hope today for speedy removal of Israeli forces from Egypt, and then for quick resumption of negotiations on operation of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli troop issue has been regarded here as the key to breaking the log jam on a number of Middle East problems, foremost among them the future of the canal which Egypt seized last summer.

Major Problem

Also awaiting solution is the major problem of achieving a stable settlement between Israel and the Arab states and the question of starting repairs on one of the major oil pipelines which runs through Syria. The pipeline was damaged, and the Suez Canal blocked, after the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt last fall.

Secretary of State Dulles and other top officials were described as greatly pleased with Israel's announcement to the United Nations Friday that it had decided to remove its troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba area. U.S. officials were hopeful no hitch would develop.

U.N. Troops Ready

Some estimates here were that if arrangements could be made quickly for U.N. emergency forces to take over in the two areas, Israeli forces could be back behind their own borders in two or three days.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold issued orders for Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the U.N. force in Egypt, to meet with Israeli army leaders today to arrange for taking over the disputed areas. In Cairo, Burns said Friday night his force is ready to move in quickly

Begins Wednesday

Local Congregations Will Note Lenten Season's Start

Entering on the most solemn season of the Christian year next week, Marion churches will join other congregations around the world in observance of Lent, the period comprising the 40 days, except Sundays, until Easter.

This is the preparation for culminating the plan of man's salvation through the death of Christ, the Son of God, on the cross and His resurrection on Easter dawn by which He freed men from sin and the grave. It is a period of penitence and striving through self-denial to be worthy of the Savior's sacrifice of his earthly life in behalf of man and with purity of heart to be able to enter with Him in triumph into the promised life eternal.

THE BEGINNING of Lent each year is Ash Wednesday which is marked in liturgical churches by the use of ashes to signify the humbling state of sorrow for sins.

The distribution of ashes is a traditional part of Ash Wednesday rites at St. Mary Catholic Church here, as in all Catholic Churches, beginning the Lenten season of penitence.

Some churches have planned a series of midweek services through the Lenten season. Others have arranged a period of nightly services during this time. The regular midweek services of some churches will be used to emphasize the special theme of spiritual preparation for the resurrection observance.

To culminate the journey of Christ to the cross on Calvary Hill, the last week of his earthly life will be commemorated Holy Week, the week before Easter, with special rites including those of Maundy Thursday and Good Friday.

For Holy Week, the Marion County Ministerial Association has planned its traditional noonday services and the three-hour Good Friday service.

In Marion for the second year the Friday noon Lenten luncheon services have been arranged at the YMCA by the religious emphasis committee. Various ministers from the city will present these noonday meditations based this year on the Lord's Prayer.

The time has been scheduled so that people in downtown offices and places of business may attend during their noon hour period, 12:05 p.m. to 12:50. Reservations are to be made at the "Y" in the morning preceding the luncheon.

Co-operation with a denominational emphasis in the state, the Ohio Area Evangelistic Concern, has been planned by Methodist Churches in Marion. A vigil of prayer for Ash Wednesday will be followed by a program of outreach proposed to strengthen the spiritual life of the entire community.

Four Fools

A Sermonette

By REV. RALPH WILEY
Pastor of First Church of the Brethren

We call a man a fool when he acts unwisely and probably all of us have called others, or ourselves, foolish for doing certain things that proved to be unwise. The Bible speaks of a number of fools, but I want to call attention to just four of them.

The first fool is recorded in Psalm 14:1 — "The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." He says there is no judge, no governor, no providence presiding over the affairs of men; there is no God to whom he shall give answer. He may be an intellect, have degrees, have positions and stand high in society, but God calls him a fool. You will notice that he said it in his heart and many stand there today. They may say there is a God with their lips, but they live as though there is none. So in their hearts they are saying, "There is no God" and God calls them a fool. He does not say, "There is no God" because he is a fool, but he is a fool because he says "There is no God."

THE SECOND fool is the one recorded in Luke 12:20 and is the "rich fool." This man thought material gain and a good time were the things to be desired. He had struck it rich and the world undoubtedly looked upon him with envy and called him wise — but God called him a fool. There are many today that stand with this man as a fool because this is a generation mad after money and pleasure. Jesus said a man is a fool who "Lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

The third fool is found in Proverbs 14:9, and this fool is the man who makes a mock at sin. Sin is not serious to him and he laughs about it and goes on in it. Many a time I have approached a talking group of people only to have an awkward silence settle over them, then I have heard them laugh after I have passed because a "preacher almost caught them" in their sinful activities. They say it was funny; God says "They are fools." Sin nailed Christ to the cross so it is nothing to take lightly. Watch your billboards, movie advertisements, listen to an average conversation, see the habits and pastimes of the people and you can see how the people make a mock at sin. God says they are fools.

THE LAST FOOL is found in 1 Corinthians 4:10. Here Paul says he is counted a fool for Christ's sake. This time it was the world calling Paul a fool for what he had sacrificed and the daily privations he faced because he followed Christ. Yes, when a man turns his back on the world, and takes up the cross of Christ, the world does call him a fool, but this is the kind of fools we need today. If this world is to be changed, it will be done by men turning their backs on it and living for Christ — though the world calls them fools.

We all stand someplace in these four categories and, believe me, I would rather be called a fool by the world than to be called a fool by God. Where do you stand? Which do you think will be the best place to stand when this life is over? My friend, you had better line up for Christ so that you will never hear the words, "Thou Fool," from God.

Day of Prayer Will Be Noted

Church Women Plan Service at Epworth

Arrangements for World Day of Prayer observance in Marion Friday are being completed by the Marion County Council of Church Women. A service will be held at 2 p.m. in Epworth Methodist Church.

Guest speaker will be Senior Maj. Lyell Rader of the Salvation Army who is in Marion to conduct special nightly services at the army's citadel on N. Prospect St. He is a territorial "revivalist" of the Salvation Army and his theme will be, "Who Shall Separate Us. . .?"

His message will center on the New Testament text of Romans 8:35 in keeping with the Scripture used for World Day of Prayer services in the 142 countries taking part.

In this country, the day is sponsored by the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of Churches of Christ. Its purpose is "to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer and to make an offering for Christian missions at home and abroad."

There will be special music by a sextet from the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs.

McGregor Hits Bill

CINCINNATI (AP)—Rep. J. Harry McGregor says he thinks proposed bills now in Congress to limit highway advertising "are one more dangerous step in direction of federal control. The less we have of that the better."

The Ohio Republican, main speaker at the Roadside Business Assn. convention Friday, said the bills, if passed, might have a "hole in the dike effect," leading to restrictions on "barns, factories and backyards that are visible from the road."

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Wonderful Secret of Dynamic Life

It was shortly after midnight. I had made a speech in Cleveland and was in Union Station there waiting for my train back to New York. Feeling hungry, I sat down at the lunch counter for a bedtime snack.

Dr. Peale

A wiry, bundle - of - energy sort of man took the seat next to mine. He looked familiar. So I turned and found he was an old friend, Walter H. Judd, United States Congressman from Minnesota. We started to talk, and in no time at all he was making a fascinating speech to me on the world situation. Soon some others were listening to his amazing ability to interpret events.

It was a wonderful experience. Walter Judd just gave out inspiration and zest and energy. "Walter," I asked him, "where do you get all this energy?"

"It's simple," he answered. "Believe in what you're doing and only do what you believe in. If I get to fooling around with things I think I ought to do, but don't really believe in, it wears me out and I get tired. But, if I believe in what I'm doing and do what I believe, I have the time of my life and my energy never runs down. In addition, I have one basic rule of living: 'Do the best you can and leave the rest to God'."

THEN HE WENT on to tell me about a recent visit his wife had with Mrs. Eisenhower. The First Lady told Mrs. Judd a charming story about the President which is worth repeating. As Congressman Judd told it to me, it went something like this:

"Sometimes at night when he is tired and perhaps might be justified in being worried, Ike gets into bed and says something like this, 'Lord, I've done the best I can today, and I'm grateful for Your help. Doubtless I muffed a few. You take over from here.'

"And," added the President's wife to Mrs. Judd, "he just turns over and goes to sleep."

President Eisenhower knows that God is with him while he is working, and he also knows that God works on while he sleeps. That is real faith and real prayer. A wonderful secret of life is simply to do the best you can, with God's help, and then, when you have done your best, to put it all in God's hands and trust in Him that everything will come out all right.

IF A PRESIDENT of the United States can do it, faced with so many world-shaking problems and decisions every day — and President Eisenhower is far from being the first President to follow this sensible practice — think how much easier it is for you, with your own comparatively minor problems, to do the same.

It is easy to permit our spirit to die down, to become drab and dull. Fortunately, there is in this universe a re-creative life force. God is both Creator and Re-creator. At the beginning of your life, God created you, and He has the power to re-create you constantly.

You can put yourself in contact with this great re-creative force by going to church, by saturating your mind with the dynamic truths of the Bible, and by praying. By filling your mind with thoughts of faith, hope, courage and the greatness of God, you perpetually renew energy and vitality. Practice living that way, and as you master the art, you will enjoy dynamic life.

Big Planes Carry Trailers North to Defense Network

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Six giant C124 Globemasters left Wright-Patterson AFB this week with seven 36-foot cold weather trailers for use as quarters and office space on the Far North DEW line.

The trailers' first stop was scheduled for Thule AFB, Greenland. From there they will be transported to the Air Force's Distant Early Warning line, a vast network of radar sites stretching across frozen regions of North America.

One of the huge transports was able to load two of the trailers in its spacious cargo compartment.

Equipped with skids, the trailers will be pulled to their permanent sites by tractors which left on a simultaneous airlift from Donaldson AFB, S.C., last Monday. Each of living units will accommodate six men with sleeping quarters in three compartments.

Recently a U.S. Army helicopter laid 14 miles of communication wire near Fort Bragg, N.C., in less than six minutes.

DR. WILLIAM F. DOUCE
Will Work in Ecuador

Dr. W. F. Douce To Speak Sunday In Baptist Church

Medical missionary work in Ecuador, South America, is planned by Dr. William F. Douce of near Cardington who will speak at Fite Memorial Baptist Church in Marion Sunday night.

He and Mrs. Douce and their family of three children expect to leave for that country in April to serve a tribe of Ecudorian Indians. Specializing for some time in tropical disease research, he hopes to take medical and surgical equipment with him for his practice.

In connection with his message at the evening service he will show "Mid-Century Martyrs," a filmstrip and tape recording which make up a documentary account of activities carried on by five missionaries who were killed by savage Indians in the Ecuador jungles. Some of the scenes are pictures which were found in the men's cameras after their death.

Mrs. Douce will be in charge of the young people's meeting at 6:30 p.m., the pastor, Rev. R. A. Maugans, announced.

Little Likelihood Seen of Congress Assisting Games

CLEVELAND (AP) — U. S. Rep. Vanik, Cleveland Democrat, says opposition by some other Ohioans in Congress probably will kill the chances of getting the federal government to put up five million dollars for the 1959 Pan American Games, scheduled for Cleveland.

Rep. Vanik, in Washington, cited the opposition of Sen. Frank J. Lausche, another Cleveland Democrat, and indicated other Ohioans in Congress also opposed the measure.

Lausche wrote to Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze in reply to the mayor's protest of Lausche's stand.

"The federal budget must be cut," Lausche wrote. "I cannot support for Ohio something which I would oppose for another state."

Rep. Bow, Canton Republican, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, has called the appropriation unnecessary. He said the events could be staged in facilities already available in Cleveland and other Ohio cities.

Douglas F. Roby of Detroit, head of the U. S. committee for the Pan-American Games, said the six-member executive committee of the games is "calling a meeting in Caracas March 16 to discuss the situation."

The call for the meeting came after a Guatemalan official proposed that his government finance the games if they can be moved to Guatemala.

Truman Claims GOP Is Failing To Back Ike

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Former President Harry Truman spoke to some 750 Oklahoma Democrats at Oklahoma A&M College Friday night, accusing the Republican party of being more uncooperative toward President Eisenhower than the Democrats.

He was applauded by students and state party leaders who paid $10 a plate. The money is to finance a trip to Washington by several A&M students this summer. The banquet was sponsored by the A&M Chapter of the League of Young Democrats.

Truman said the Republican Congress of 1953 and 1954 "blocked the President's program, and after Sen. Taft died, the lid was off. The Republican congressmen kicked Republican Cabinet members around in the committee rooms of the capitol as if they were so many political footballs."

Nasser Voids 'Principles' of Canal Control

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today in a dispatch from Cairo that Egyptian President Nasser considers himself no longer bound by the "six principles" for operation of the Suez Canal.

The dispatch, quoting informed sources, said Nasser told King Saud of Saudi Arabia that 'the British-French invasion of Egypt "washed out" Egypt's agreement at the United Nations last October to the principles Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold formulated for settlement of the Suez dispute.

Hammarskjold worked out the six principles in secret talks with British, French and Egyptian leaders at the U. N. They were endorsed by the Security Council and have been considered the basis of any future Suez settlement.

The principles call for insulation of the canal's operation from the politics of any country, freedom of transit for ships of all nations, recognition of Egyptian sovereignty over the waterway, fixing of tolls by agreement between Egypt and the nations using the canal, allotment of a "fair proportion" of the tolls for canal development and arbitration of any disputes that arise.

Cleveland Strike Forces Shutdown Of Factory Here

Temporary suspension of manufacturing operations at the Marion Forge Division of the Eaton Mfg. Co., pending settlement of a strike of Eaton employes in Cleveland, was announced today.

C. J. Roberts, employe relations manager at the local plant, said that about 375 employes are affected by the shutdown.

They worked their last shift at the local plant Friday night, Mr. Roberts said. Only a few maintenance personnel work at the plant during the shutdown, he added.

Products of the local plant are used in the manufacturing process at the Cleveland plant. Since it is closed down because of the strike, the parts supplied by the Marion plant are not needed and it was necessary to close down the plant here, Mr. Roberts explained.

That mail box on the city corner . . . that post office at the country crossroads . . . what would we do without them?

Life is too complex for us to live by ourselves. Man's interests and his welfare reach far beyond the boundaries of his community. Communication with people and corporations hundreds of miles away is a part of modern living that we take for granted. We have to "keep in touch."

But long before life became so complex, men discovered their need for another kind of communication—prayer. The courage and faith and hope which steel men for the challenge of each day come from God. The deep spiritual needs of the soul can be supplied only by keeping in touch with God.

We think our mail-boxes are indispensable! Even so, one church means more to a community than all its postal facilities. For not so long ago men lived very happily without a postal system. But men have never lived happily without God!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Station To Show Luther Film After Another Turns It Down

CHICAGO (AP)—The movie "Martin Luther" will be shown by Chicago television station WBKB-TV on April 22, two days after Easter and nearly three months after another Chicago station had canceled the film.

The movie, dealing with the life of the 16th century Protestant leader, was canceled by station WGN-TV shortly before its scheduled showing on Dec. 28 because of what the station termed "emotional reaction."

Cancellation Protested

Protestant clergymen, who attributed the "reaction" to the Roman Catholic Church, protested the cancellation, formed a committee and filed a complaint against the station with the Federal Communications Commission.

However, the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago said it had not or would not ever protest the showing of the movie. It added, however, it would "reserve the right" to express an opinion on the film's "historical accuracy and the manner in which it portrays the Catholic Church."

Sterling Quinlan, vice president of WBKB-TV, said Friday in announcing his station would show the film April 23, that he had received assurances from Roman Catholic sources that the film will not offend religious groups.

A group of Protestant clergymen, after Quinlan's announcement, said in a statement "this action of WBKB will do much to restore the practice of freedom on television in the nation."

WGN Reasoning

WGN officials had said, after they canceled the film, that the station "has elected co cancel the showing, not wanting to be a party to the development of any misunderstanding or ill will among persons of the Christian faith in the Chicagoland area."

The film, which is scheduled to be shown over a Milwaukee station, WISN-TV, next Friday, has been shown in movie theaters throughout the country. It is based on the life of Luther, who broke with the Roman Catholic Church in the 16th century and led the Protestant movement in Germany. It was produced by Lutheran Church Productions.

Marine Instructor Cleared of Charge

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A Marine drill instructor charged with mistreating recruits at this basic training center was cleared of all charges here Friday. One recruit said he considered the mistreatment involving him as something of a joke.

Sgt. Daniel J. Corey, 23, of Somerville, Mass., was charged with forcing Pvt. John L. Barone, 18, of Chester, Pa., to stuff candy into his mouth until Barone became ill.

Corey also was accused of pushing Pvt. Thomas Hayes, 19, of Lawrence, Mass., to the floor of a barracks.

Barone testified he ate two candy bars with Sgt. Corey's permission, but started laughing and became choked.

Hayes testified Corey took him from a formation inside a barracks because he was out of step. Hayes said Corey lifted himself off the floor and while hanging from a clothes rack bar wrapped his legs around him (Hayes) and lowered him gently to the floor with a scissor's grip. Hayes said he regarded the incident as something of a joke and that he was not injured.

Off to Ghana

Whatever it is that Vice President Nixon is expected to do as leader of the U.S. delegation to the new African state of Ghana when it gets its independence next Wednesday, he will do creditably.

But there is much more to the vice president's assignment to visit a new country in Africa than a ceremony in one city. He also will stop in Morocco, Tunisia and Sudan, where he and his traveling companions will try to lay the groundwork for Afro-American confidence.

Africa is emerging as a potential world power, with a handful of resourceful and highly-intelligent native leaders shaping policies that will have a tremendous impact within the span of a generation.

The prime minister of Ghana, for example, could become the spokesman for many millions of Africans, although his own state is small —about 4½ million. His influence would be drawn from the fact he is an African whose interest is in Africa's development, the prototype of a rising generation of young African leaders who have been educated abroad and gone back to tackle handicaps that have kept 200 million Africans from catching up to civilization.

If it seems strange for the vice president of the United States to be making a ceremonial call on a country Americans never heard of before, the strangeness is temporary. In the 21st century, Africa will be as familiar as Europe. This is the prelude.

Bus Service

We sincerely hope and trust that the announcement of curtailed service by Marion City Bus Lines is evidence of a minor ailment only, and not the first sign of a critical malady.

The present management has done the best job with the bus company here that has been accomplished in a good many years. The great majority of people who desired bus service have had it available, and by practicing strict economies the company has appeared to be holding its own, or a little better.

Even the big cities are having their troubles with public transportation, and cities of Marion's size can't do without bus service and sometimes have the difficulty knowing what to do with it.

In the general community interest, the level of patronage should be maintained at least to the point where the bus lines can remain in business and continue to serve those who otherwise would be without easily available transportation.

In Training

Years ago, everybody envied the lucky ballplayers who went into spring training at this time each year. They were the luckiest of men, but the national game was worth whatever was required to put its players in top condition.

It still is. But ballplayers these days are a tiny fraction of the spring-training mob. The thing has become a fad. Millions of Americans go into spring training. Some even go into it before Christmas.

The idea is to flee from the rigors of winter and get into top condition for the ordeal of summer. One day soon, like the ballplayers they now outnumber by a few thousand to one, the trainees will be returning — in top condition, naturally.

They will be lithe and bronzed. They will have worked the kinks out of themselves and sharpened their batting eye. The men will have been separated from the boys, as they say in competitive sports, and the flash-in-the-pans will have been sent back to Class-D for seasoning.

It is good to know that baseball no longer has a monopoly on spring-training — that so many others now take advantage of the opportunity to study curves where the woodbine twineth and the sunshine shineth.

Special Safety Problem

The fire tragedy at Warrenton, Mo., which killed a still undetermined number of inmates and visitors in a refuge for old persons may sound a national alert.

There is a special security problem in all institutions of this kind — a problem unique in its relationship to fire hazards.

The inmates are helpless or nearly so. That is why they are there. Anything that imperils them is doubly dangerous, because they are unable to help themselves.

Two further factors add to the risk. Many institutions of this nature are housed in structures which either were not designed for the purpose, or which were built so long ago they are no safer than the remodeled single occupancy dwelling homes for the aged usually take over. The Warrenton structure was 65 years old — a brick shell with a combustible interior.

Insurance companies that write fire-damage policies know bad risks when they see them. So do fire inspectors who dare to be forthright in their reports. The ordinary public, which routinely takes too much for granted in protection against fire hazards, is entitled to know whether or not a building which houses helpless people has passed inspection and if not why.

Religion In and On the Job

A Footing for Faith

By EUGENE CARR

An executive of one of the nation's large advertising agencies described recently his efforts to openly and honestly compliment American business and industry on the fine products and services they produce and sell.

This man fairly bounces with enthusiasm for the competitive system of business enterprise in our country, and takes great pleasure in writing a company and commenting favorably on a new gadget or convenience offered for sale to the public.

For example, some time ago he wrote a letter of congratulations on a new electric blanket. He made no suggestions for improvement. He did not offer his services or his agency's services to the manufacturer. His letter in no way identified his own business. He merely wanted the company to know he thought their electric blanket was the finest on the market.

IN DUE TIME, he received a cautiously worded "thank you" from the president of the firm. A few days later he received a carefully guarded inquiry from a vice president, again thanking him for his letter, but wanting to know if there were something more he had in mind; did he really have a complaint, or did he want to endorse the blanket for a fee, or exactly what was his original purpose in writing? There was a general overtone in the letter that, surely, he could not have been entirely sincere and unselfish!

This has been the experience of the agency executive in a great number of like cases. Usually, there is a long-running exchange of correspondence that never quite gets to a footing of mutual faith and confidence. And the conclusion arrived at over the years is that so few people wholeheartedly express their gratitude for things that please and benefit them, there is an almost universal tendency to be suspicious if someone does make such an expression.

THIS DOES NOT mean that most of us lack a sense of appreciation, rather, it means that we take for granted the benefits of life, especially when we think we deserve them. Why should we thank someone for doing something for us which he is supposed to do? Why should we show appreciation for something we pay for? The answer is that we do not stop to think how much we could mean to those who serve us well, and how helpful our comments could be in the normal course of daily contact with others. As a result, we are wary and suspicious and lose out on worthwhile opportunities to be of benefit to those who need our help.

Fortunate is the man who recognizes honesty and sincerity where he sees it and accepts forthrightness at full value. But, more fortunate is he who practices a sincere and honest relationship with his fellowman and forthrightly offers himself to the common pool of human happiness. He lives at the springboard of satisfaction and at the finish line of eternal hope.

The Brennan Ruckus

By Jay G. Hayden

The squabble raised by Sen. Joseph McCarthy over confirmation of William J. Brennan for membership on the Supreme Court again highlights the unusual practice of President Eisenhower of seating members of that body subject to future Senate acceptance.

Judge Brennan specifically was appointed last Sept. 29 but his name was not submitted for Senate approval until the opening of a newly elected Congress in January and still remains unacted on by that body.

Meanwhile Judge Brennan has participated in the hearing of many cases and several decisions, including dissent, along with Justices Frankfurter and Harlan, only last Monday, on a 6-to-3 finding that professional football, unlike baseball, is not exempt from the antitrust law.

The significant comparison is that for more than 150 years before President Eisenhower took office, no member of the Supreme Court ever assumed his seat without having been confirmed by the Senate.

THE BEGINNING of that precedent was the Senate's rejection of the appointment by President George Washington of John Rutledge for chief justice of the Supreme Court in 1795. Justice Rutledge had been a member of the court from its beginning in 1789 but the Senate turned thumbs down on him for chief justice apparently because he had supported the treaty for final adjustment of differences with Great Britain negotiated by John Jay, his predecessor as chief justice.

Supporters of Thomas Jefferson, the New Dealer of the time, were strongly pro-French and anti-British.

Justice Rutledge previously had served as member of the Stamp Act Continental Congress in 1765, as chairman of the committee that framed the South Carolina State Constitution in 1776 and was first governor of his state (1776-1778).

President Eisenhower's first appointment to the court was occasioned by death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, Sept. 8, 1953.

With the annual session of the court scheduled to begin within a month, quick naming of a new chief justice seemed imperative. And to get one President Eisenhower had to choose between a recess appointee or calling of the Senate into special session. He decided to take a chance that his selection, Gov. Earl Warren of California, would successfully run the delayed Senate gantlet.

MR. EISENHOWER'S second nomination, that of John Marshall Harlan for associate justice, was submitted to the special 1954 session of the Senate called to pass on the proposal to censure Sen. McCarthy.

With Democrats scheduled to take over both houses of Congress in the following January, the President's move for quick filling of the court vacancy was sniffed at. It was March 16, 1955, before Justice Harlan finally donned his judicial robe.

Sudden resignation of Associate Justice Sherman Minton last September again confronted President Eisenhower with a clear choice of recess appointment or leaving the court undermanned for several months. With the national election close at hand it was unthinkable that the Senate should be called into special session merely to pass on a single appointment.

Thus it was that Judge Brennan took his seat last Oct. 17 and has been sitting ever since without confirmation. Signs are that he may make the grade sometime this month.

Two incidents in Mr. Brennan's appearance before the Judiciary Committee illustrate the risk any appointee to the Supreme Court takes in assuming office without Senate confirmation.

CONTENDING THAT Mr. Brennan had made speeches indicating "an underlying hostility to congressional attempts to expose the Communist conspiracy," Sen. McCarthy asked the court nominee whether he believes "communism is a political way of life or a conspiracy to overthrow the government."

Mr. Brennan replied that he could not answer that question for the reason that he was sitting as judge in two cases where the question, as pertained to the U. S. Communist party, was squarely at issue.

Sen. Joseph O' Mahoney relieved the impasse by asking Mr. Brennan whether he thought international communism was aimed to overthrow the American system. He replied, "yes, affirmatively, definitely."

Sen. James Eastland, Mississippi's leading White Supremacist, hounded Brennan as to whether the meaning of constitutional amendments (especially the 14th) is constant or subject to changing judicial whims.

Mr. Brennan replied finally that while words of the Constitution are constant, law cases are like "fingerprints," in that no two states of evidential fact ever are exactly alike.

Court Usurps Power in Clinton Case

By David Lawrence

It is a matter of news importance when the American Civil Liberties Union, known for its persistent defense of "liberal" causes, criticizes a federal court injunction in a "desegregation" case.

Lawrence

After the Supreme Court of the United States issued its order throwing out state laws that permitted segregation, the school authorities of Clinton, Tenn., interpreted this to mean they had to bring about a forced association of the races and they complied with the court's order. But various people in the town spoke in criticism and some of them allegedly attempted to interfere with the school board's operation.

A riot took place near the school grounds, which should have been handled by local police under state laws. But the federal judge issued an injunction of such broad scope that the Department of Justice arrested 16 citizens and made them defendants on the ground that they had engaged in a conspiracy to violate the injunction.

Some of them had merely criticized the injunction and the court decision. Others happened to witness the disturbance. One of them merely offered bail for a defendant and was promptly arrested as a co-conspirator.

"Mere advocacy, in the Clinton case," says the American Civil Liberties Union statement, "urging the ignoring of the law or judicial orders, should not be prohibited. As we said at the beginning of this statement, the ACLU supports the Supreme Court decision and urges all citizens to obey it. But if some citizens choose to oppose the decision by peaceful means, through speech, they have the constitutional right to do so.

"MERE PICKETING to express a point of view, in the absence of intimidation, should not be enjoined. So we believe the blanket prohibition against picketing of the Clinton High School is invalid. Without direct incitement to definite acts of individual or joint obstructiveness or interference, coupled with a clear and present danger that these acts will take place immediately, the injunction is too broad and interferes with free speech.

"However, the prohibition in the injunction as to overt acts of 'hindering' or 'obstructing' the integration order is different. Such overt acts cannot claim the protection of free speech. Whether or not such acts have occurred is a matter of proof to be determined at the contempt hearing."

This correspondent a few weeks ago called attention to this very defect in the court's injunction and also to the unlawful usurpation by a federal court of a duty and task that should be performed by local police agencies and state law.

THERE IS no evidence that the persons arrested exercised any influence whatsoever on the school board or attempted to interfere with its operations in bringing about a forced association of pupils. All that the citizens did was to criticize the injunction and the Supreme Court decision.

When an altercation occurred some distance from the school building, it was certainly a usurpation of authority for a federal court to attempt to apply an injunction to every citizen in the school district as to what he might say in his own home to his friends in criticism of forced association in the schools.

There are some rumors that the Department of Justice now regrets the arrests ordered under the federal judge's injunction.

In the first place, if the judge at the contempt trial charges conspiracy, he will have to convince the public that the conspirators selected a point in front of a police station to carry out their conspiracy to do an unlawful thing.

This would be difficult. If they did not all participate and the preacher was struck by a man acting impulsively and, as he claims, because he was shoved aside by the preacher, it will be a hard thing to sentence the bystanders and make such a decision stand up on appeal.

IN ANY EVENT, it is difficult to see how the judge can tie up this incident, which occurred some distance from the school, with a violation of his order prohibiting interference with pupils who attended the school.

The American Civil Liberties Union has interested itself often in cases involving arrests for picketing in labor disputes and, as pointed out in these dispatches when the Clinton injunction was issued, precedents are being made which can rise to plague labor unions.

Under the Fourteenth Amendment, Congress is empowered to pass legislation to enforce the prohibition against abridgement by a state of the liberties and privileges of a citizen — the basis on which the Supreme Court denounced racial segregation in the schools. But Congress has never acted.

The amendment is not self-executing but contains a specific grant of power to Congress. Hence until Congress does act, neither the Supreme Court nor any lower court can do any legislating and at the same time obey the spirit of the Constitution itself.

It is the obligation of the states to preserve order, and they have ample means to do so.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I have been amusing myself wondering how the United Nations would have handled things when Moses led the children of Israel out of Egypt. If there had been a United Nations in existence at the time, it would have been expected to do something.

But it was taken for granted then and for a couple thousand years afterward that there was nothing anybody could do when such things happened, except to run or fight, whichever seemed to be the part of wisdom.

If you ran, you had to stop and fight sometime, and if you fought on the spot you might get the stuffing kicked out of you. It was a case of heads you lost, tails the other side won, unless you happened to be big enough to win all the battles.

This is something to think about in connection with some of the problems we are supposed to be thinking about as full-fledged journeymen in the brotherhood of man.

It is particularly something for people who are full of criticism against the United Nations, the United States, the republic of Israel and the republic of Egypt to think about.

I wince when they tell how they would make everything peaceable and serene with a few twists of the wrist. I do not see how anyone can stand in the shadow of thousands of years of history and say anything can be done with a few twists of the wrist.

The best we can hope to do in our few seconds of infinity is to keep the irreconcilables from tearing out each other's throats while their quarrels are given the benefit of an airing.

It is a vain hope, because as recently as last Christmas two of our supposedly civilized neighbors in the North Atlantic community did an impressive job of reverting to throat-tearing.

It must have occurred to a lot of people besides me to wonder what we can expect from other nations when we have fresh evidence that we can expect nothing from the British and French. They can still go berserk with ease, and I would not want to bet more than the return on my income tax that we have lived down the impulse, either. I can remember the Spanish-American War, which was not a distinguished example of restraint in the face of provocation.

That is why I have been thinking about the fact the children of Israel and the Egyptians have not been getting along well together for more than 3,000 years and wondering whether it is really so shocking that they are still having trouble.

Should we not, rather, be astonished that in spite of so much practice in squabbling there now is some reason to hope that they may be kept from each other's throats for a brief span, particularly if we also can keep the Slavs from spilling into the Mediterranean basin, another long-term project I do not expect to see wound up in my lifetime.

As you can see, I am taking a long view in this letter. But there is hope. After all, we never had petroleum before to give so many people a deep sense of responsibility for keeping peace and order. Well, maybe not peace, but order.

The boys opened the sugar camp last Tuesday. Your aunt and I are going to drive out there tomorrow. Do you want to reserve your usual order, or won't you be needing so much with fewer star boarders? Regards to all from both of us.

On With the Probes

The Soviet Union has demanded that the United Nations investigate the "aggressive, warlike actions of the United States," declaring Uncle Sam has created a "way psychosis and is threatening world peace and security."

It's just awful, says the U.S.S.R., how a cold, vicious, heartless America defeats all the kind, ever-loving gentle efforts of big-hearted Russia to make the world one sweet, happy family with no reason to be afraid of anybody.

WE THINK THE FREE WORLD should make the inquiry and also make an all-out probe into these other allegations which the Soviet Union doubtlessly also presents:

1 — That grandma ate the wolf, the story that it was the other way around being a fiction spread by American warmongers.

2 — That Jonah really swallowed the whale. The whale "as is well known," is a peace-loving creature with a spotless record for good deeds. Jonah? A conspiring capitalist who would swallow anybody or anything.

3 — That the Fairy Godmother, generally supposed to have sent Cinderella to the ball out of good will and charity, was a foreign agent of the powerful American glass-slipper industry whose sole aim was to kill off demand for Russian boots.

Cinderella, it is also charged on undeniable evidence, was an undercover worker for Wall Street interests trying to foist American mice, lizards and pumpkins on other nations.

Cinderella was in cahoots with the Fairy Godmother in a deliberate plot to convince unsuspecting people that they could get coaches, horses and footmen that way.

4 — Lizzie Borden did not slay her pop and mom with an axe. The old folks slew Lizzie. President Eisenhower and Foster Dulles know this to be true, but just want to muddy the waters.

5 — Humpty Dumpty never fell off a wall and a dull inquiry by the U.N. will show that the wall fell off Humpty Dumpty, who was using a wall as a screen behind which he could conduct germ warfare.

6 — Lassie is not a friend of young people and valiant heroes and heroines. This dog hates children.

All its timely alarms and rescues are pure deception and part of a technique by certain blocs to fool the people of Europe and Asia. Washington is using Lassie as a cover behind which it sets up air bases abroad.

7 — The matter of The Good Samaritan should be placed on the U.N. agenda at once. Moscow has evidence showing him to be a tool of the capitalistic world. The weary stranger placed upon his mule was a partner and they worked as a team in a plot to stir up revolutions among contented and happy workers in foreign lands.

THE INQUIRIES should not end here. Let there be a speedy inquiry by the U.N. into Eliza's flight across the ice, with Little Eva, pursued by bloodhounds. (Those bloodhounds were peace-loving. Eliza was a paid agent of NATO. Eva? She was an advocate of guided missile attacks.)

GENERAL ELECTRIC'S discovery of a way to make diamonds and a new product, borazon, which is even more enduring, is interesting but no gal is going to change that song to "Schenectady is a girl's best friend." . . . Imagine getting engaged and telling your sweetie, "I'll go downtown tomorrow and pick you out a borazon."

Arthur V. Davis, famed millionaire, has acquired Eleuthera Island in the Bahamas and is converting it into one of the most ultra-ultra upper-set vacation spots on earth . . . It has a deluxe golf course designed by Bobby Jones, a main club house, a beach club and 40 cottages.

20 YEARS AGO — Allocations of $48,610.04 to Marion city schools and $27,031.20 to county schools were made by the state department of education in distributing $11,013,386 in state funds under the state school foundation program.

On the heels of Britain's $7,500,000,000 defense program for rearmament, Italy's grand Fascist council ordered military training for all men from 18-55 and stepped up its military spending.

Earthquakes, unusual in this area, were the cause of alarm both locally and throughout the state when sufficient tremors occurred in a five-minute period to send cupboard dishes clanging to the floor and move desks and chairs from their accustomed positions.

John Abel, Marion County relief director, in whose administration state relief inspectors reported alleged abuses, appeared before the house relief committee of the state legislature in Columbus and declared that conditions in other counties were worse than in Marion.

10 YEARS AGO — Six members of a Michigan family group, en route to Waldo to celebrate the 61st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cramer, were killed and another critically injured when the car in which they were riding was struck by a northbound New York Central passenger train at the Route 42 crossing in Cardington. The deceased mother in the vehicle was the daughter of the Cramers.

Four inches of snow and high winds played havoc with traffic and closed several rural schools. City police reported 11 accidents, most of them due to slippery streets.

Bridegroom Has the Mumps, But Won't Delay Vows Again

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Don Schanker, who has the mumps, and Judy Kraft, who expects to have them soon, planned to be married today at Don's bedside.

Well, "planned" isn't quite the word for it. Actually, they planned a big church ceremony. But Don's affliction with the mumps vetoed that, so they decided a bedside ceremony would have to do.

Postpone the wedding? Perish the thought. They'd have to get a new marriage license, take blood tests over again — and it's been postponed twice already.

Don, 23, a pharmacist, and Judy, 21, an airline account clerk, began dating last April, only four days before he left for Army duty in France.

They became engaged, by mail, in September. In November they met in London to be married. Red tape intervened. Then they tried to get married in Paris, but again they were stalled by regulations.

Last month Don got out of the Army, came home, found apartment, got a job and bought a car. He and Judy set the wedding date and took their vacations. All set.

Then Tuesday Don phoned Judy: "I have the mumps."

Friday doctors told Judy she'll probably get them, too. The incubation period is 14 to 21 days.

A honeymoon, for the time being, is out, but Judy is philosophical.

"At least we can spend the time nursing each other," she says.

Cub Scout Notes

The annual blue and gold banquet honoring members of Pack 24, sponsored by the Green Camp Methodist Church, was held Thursday night at Camp Owens. Covers were placed for 75 at a covered dish dinner preceding the program. Tables were decorated in the cub and scout emblems in blue and gold.

Speaker for the program was Harold Fralich, commissioner of the Marion-Morrow District whose topic was "Parents Part in Cubbing." Other guests included Cicero Diehl, Eddie Schwaderer and Rev. John Wagner, pastor of the Methodist Church. Informal talks were given by Mr. Diehl and Mr. Schwaderer and skits were given by Dens One and Two. Clyde Powelson, cub master, presented awards to Jeff Danner, Jimmie Meredith, Willia Kennard and Tommy Bowman. The program closed with the cubs and scouts forming a circle around the cubmaster and scoutmaster and repeating the promise of citizenship.

Survey Starts In 5 Crawford School Areas

BUCYRUS — A survey to offer possible methods of solving enrollment problems is under way in five of Crawford County's 10 rural schools.

The survey is being conducted by representatives of the College of Education at Ohio State University in Columbus. Its cost will be shared by Tiro, Leesville, North Robinson, Whetstone and Sulphur Springs Schools.

At a meeting last fall, an effort was made to set up a county-wide survey of individual school needs but no official action was taken.

The completed survey is expected to be available about Aug. 1 after which the participating schools may accept, reject or modify the recommendations.

Meanwhile, Holmes - Liberty School, the largest rural school in the county, is sponsoring a straw vote of district residents next Wednesday. Residents will be asked to indicate whether they favor contacting surrounding schools with a view of consolidation or the inauguration of a building program at the school to relieve present crowded conditions.

Theater Attractions

Following is a summary of the motion pictures that will be presented at theaters in Marion next week.

Ohio

"The Big Land," which is set in the Kansas Territory in the days immediately following the Civil War, is the current attraction at the Ohio Theater. Starred in the color film are Alan Ladd, Virginia Mayo and Edmond O'Brien. It will play through Wednesday.

The story is of the struggle of the cattle men and railroad builders in the lawless reconstuction period after the Civil War for their rights.

Alan Ladd plays Chad Morgan who leads a group of Texans to Missouri where they hope to sell their cattle for $10 a head, but the only offer of $1.50 is made by a town leader and his gang.

When a railroad builder agrees to extend the new railroad spur to southern Kansas so the Texans can drive their cattle to a new market, Chad leaves to organize the Texans. But while he is gone the gang attacks the almost completed railroad town.

Showing on the same bill with "The Big Land" will be a special feature revealing in color all the wonders of nature's playground, Florida, "Chasing The Sun."

The camera visits the monkey jungles, alligator pits, serpentariums and watery gardens, with a motorboat excursion through the Cypress Gardens.

"Anastasia," with Ingrid Bergman, Yul Brynner and Helen Hayes heading the cast, will open Thursday, filmed in Cinemascope and color. It marks Miss Bergman's return to American - made motion pictures after an absence of seven years. The picture was produced in Paris, Copenhagen and London.

The film version of "Anastasia" was drawn from a successful Broadway play which dramatizes the riddle surrounding the youngest daughter of the late Czar of Russia. The plot deals with the attempt of four white Russians led by Yul Brynner to pass off Miss Bergman as the real Anastasia, reputedly to have escaped execution at the hands of the Red Russians in 1918, and to collect the 10,000,000 pound legacy the Czar left in English banks for her.

Heading the supporting cast are Akim Tamiroff, Martita Hunt, Felix Aylmer, Sacha Pitoeff, Ivan Desny, Natalie Schafer, Geogoire Gromoff, Karl Stepanek, Ian de la Haye and Katherine Kath.

Next Saturday afternoon, March 9, a special Jungle Jamboree matinee for children will be presented. Included will be the Bowery Boys in "Jungle Gents," Bomba the Jungle Boy in "Lord of the Jungle," and the Little Rascals in "The Kid From Borneo." "Anastasia" will not be shown that day until 5 p.m.

Palace

"Mister Cory," in Cinemascope and color and starring Tony Curtis, Martha Hyer, Charles Bickford and Kathryn Grant, will be the feature attraction of a double bill Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace Theater.

Also showing will be "Daniel Boone, Trail Blazer," dealing with the daring exploits of that fabulous man. Starred are Bruce Bennett as Boone, Lon Chaney as Indian Chief Blackfish and Faron Young.

"Mister Cory" tells the story of the rise of a youth from a Chicago slum to become the operator of a big-time gambling establishment and break into high society.

As a slum gambler with big ideas for improving his position, Tony Curtis meets the Vollard Sisters at the millionarie summer resort where he works as a bus boy. When he gets in trouble with small time gamblers in the kitchen and Abby, one of the sisters, discovers he has been using her as a stepping stone to recognition and wealth, he leaves the resort.

He wanders for two years but then lines up with an underworld character to open up a swanky gambling club in an old house.

"Daniel Boone, Trail Blazer" tells of a period in Boone's life during which, in order to establish a settlement, he must not only fight the Indians but the British Red Coats and the renegade French, who continually are stirring up trouble among the natives.

The climax features an Indian battle in which Boone's own son meets death as do the two sons of the famous Indian Chieftain, Blackfish.

Billed as a double feature for Wednesday through Saturday are "Gun For a Coward" starring Fred MacMurray and Jeff Hunter, and "Accused of Murder" with Vera Ralston and David Brian.

State

"They Were So Young" starring Scott Brady and Raymond Burr, and "The White Squaw" with David Brian and May Wynn, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are "Santa Fe Passage," in color, plus "Wicked Wife." The former stars Rod Cameron and John Payne.

Dane Clark and James Craig are stars of the film, "Massacre," in color, which will be the main attraction of a double feature Friday and Saturday. Completing the billing will be "Flight To Hong Kong" starring Rory Calhoun and Barbara Rush, plus three cartoons.

Entrance Requirements May Be Made Harder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The president of Ohio State University predicts growing competition for college placements may force even state institutions such as OSU to require more of the enrolling freshman than his high school diploma.

Dr. Novice G. Fawcett told a luncheon meeting of 150 Ohio High school principals:

"Careful and intelligent guidance of high school pupils into a more rigid program of college requirements may be the only guarantee the youth of the future will have of gaining college admission."

The principals were attending a campus workshop devoted to "bridging the gap between high school and college in mathematics and English."

Car Salesmen Organize

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A group of automobile salesmen is petitioning the AFL for designation as a local union to represent auto agency salesmen in Mahoning, Trumbull and Columbiana counties. A charter containing 14 signatures was submitted to the union. President John Hanlon said Friday he expects approval and assignment of a local union number sometime next week.

Hanlon said the group will work for a standardized pay scale in the three-county area and a 44-hour week.

Man Ruled Guilty

CLEVELAND (AP)—A jury of five women and seven men deliberated a little more than two hours before finding Henry Lee Brent, 36, of Cleveland guilty of second-degree murder in the shooting of Clinton Pace during a party May 27, 1956.

Brent, a foundry worker, fled to Mississippi after the shooting but returned voluntarily to Ohio a week later. He was held in lieu of $20,000 bond pending an appeal for a new trial.

Woman Is 101 Today

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Mary Pierce observes her 101st birthday here today. She lives with her son, Lewis, and his family.

Men Acquitted In Assault on Police Officers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two Negroes were acquitted Friday in municipal court of assault and battery charges involving two white policemen.

The Negroes, Herman K. Humphries, 26, a U.S. Army sergeant, and Robert E. Barbee, 30, a civilian, were accused of attacking off-duty patrolmen Peter J. Hotz and Edward Shaniuk outside a bar Dec. 10.

The trial, in Judge Mary B. Grossman's municipal court, has been watched closely by Cleveland Negro leaders.

Army Sgt. John C. Coleman, in a deposition, said the two patrolmen uttered obscenities at him because he was seated with the Negroes in the tavern. Coleman is white.

The patrolmen said the Negroes attacked them when they left the bar.

Humphries and Barbee said the officers provoked the trouble in the tavern, then slugged them outside and at Central Police Station.

Negro leaders brought a complaint against the patrolmen last December. Police departmental charges were drafted, but action was deferred pending the outcome of the trial. Safety Director John N. McCormick said hearings on suspension charges against the policemen might start next Friday.

Jury foreman George Wesley said the jury had difficulty arriving at a verdict because "we believed both sides had a weak case."

Tiffin Man Convicted Of Evading U.S. Tax

CLEVELAND (AP)—Attorneys for Clifford O. Hansen, 60-year-old head of a Tiffin, Ohio, machinery company, have until March 18 to file for a third trial for Hansen, convicted Friday on income tax fraud charges.

A jury of seven women and five men deliberated about an hour and a half before convicting Hansen on three counts. Internal revenue officials charged that Hansen's personal liabilities in 1945 and 1946 were more than $84,000 and that the Hansen Clutch and Machinery Co. failed to pay about $37,000.

Mahoning Budget Up

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Mahoning County commissioners have approved a $3,385,000 county budget for 1957. The budget is $500,000 more than 1956 with most of the raise going for a recently granted five per cent pay increase for county employes.

WILLIAM REYNOLDS (left) displays his winnings to his fiancee, Martha Hyer, and gambling house operator Tony Curtis, who is having an affair with the girl, in this scene from "Mister Cory," in Cinemascope and color. It will be one attraction of a double bill Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace Theater.

Letters of Radio Amateurs Cheer Leukemia Victim

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Sandy haired Bobby Sayers, 4, can hardly walk because he suffers from leukemia but "he manages to wobble to the door when the mailman arrives," according to his mother.

And each morning the mailman brings dozens of get well cards from amateur radio operators throughout the eastern half of the country.

The deluge of cards was started by Thaddeus Burford, 45, a Carroll County dairy farmer, who made an appeal over his "ham" radio for letters for the sick youngster.

Buford, who has never met Bobby, heard about his illness from his wife. In an effort to cheer up the boy he appealed to his amateur radio friends throughout the world.

The broadcast was made a week ago, and since overseas mail generally takes two or three weeks to get here he'll probably be getting cards from Germany, Japan, Australia and other foreign lands, according to Burford.

More than 600 cards from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Virginia, and New Jersey have arrived so far. Some have been tacked to the walls by Bobby's family. Bobby carries others in paper bags throughout the house.

"The cards are the last things he asks for at night," his mother said, "and the first things he wants in the morning."

$52,000 Theft

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Robbers made off with 2,640,000 Belgian francs ($52,000) from the Antwerp central postoffice Thursday night while postal employes were sorting mail in the next room.

Toledo Man Dies After Wounding 4 In Shooting Spree

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police today sought to learn whose bullets killed a construction worker who was wounded after shooting his landlady, a 15-year-old girl and two policemen.

Police at first said the construction worker, Arnold Washington, 39, shot himself in a climax to the wild shooting spree at his rooming house here Friday. Washington died Friday night.

Police scheduled an autopsy today and said it was possible a policeman shot Washington before being critically wounded.

Two patrolmen, Charles Diefenbach, 28, and Irvin Smith, 40, had gone to the rooming house on a complaint by Mrs. Mattie Lewis, 72, who said Washington was running around the house nude.

Washington, fully clothed when the patrolmen arrived, pulled a gun and opened fire on them. Mrs. Lewis was wounded in the lower abdomen. Her niece, Janice Meekins, 15, was shot in the stomach.

Fellow officers found Diefenbach, bleeding from a stomach wound as he crouched behind a cruiser, waiting to get a shot at Washington. Sprawled nearby was patrolman Irvin Smith, 40, only partly conscious with two wounds in his chest and one in each arm.

New Bloodless Revolt Flares In East Indies

51 Leaders Proclaim Coup; Protest Plan To Give Reds Voice

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A bloodless revolt flared today in East Indonesia along a pattern set last December in Sumatra, in the west.

Greater autonomy is the main demand of 51 leaders of the eastern islands who proclaimed the coup, just as it was in the abortive uprisings in Sumatra.

New Factor

A new factor appeared, however, in widespread opposition to President Sukarno's recently proclaimed plan to give the Communists a voice in governmental council of this predominantly Moslem nation.

The revolutionists announced they had installed the governor of the Celebes, A. P. Pettarani, as military governor of all East Indonesia—taking in the Celebes, Moluccas and the Lesser Sunda Islands. They reported the "takeover of the civilian administration shall be done quickly."

"May God bless us," the declaration said.

Lt. Col. Ventje Sumual, 35, was identified as the leader of the revolt. He proclaimed a state of war and siege.

Once in Dutch Army

The rebel chieftain is a handsome former bodyguard of Sukarno and guerrilla fighter during the revolution against the Dutch. The president has regarded him as a son. A Christian born in the Philippines, Sumual once served as a sergeant in the Dutch army.

Though critics of the central government, seated in this Java city under Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo, the revolutionists made it clear they did not wish to break away from the Republic of Indonesia.

They complained the government is draining 90 per cent of their islands' income from foreign exchange. They said they want at least 70 per cent of their foreign trade earnings spent in East Indonesia. A dispatch from the area said all was calm after the coup.

Sources in Jakarta voiced belief the revolt was sparked by opposition to Sukarno's plan for a "guided democracy" regime to seat the Communists along with other groups in a national advisory council that would have veto powers over parliament.

Reaction Called Factor

A spokesman for the Indonesian army agreed "reaction against President Sukarno's conception" was a big factor. The army refused to say what moves it intends to take against the coup. Caution was the watchword in Sumatra, where it was weeks before the central government restored deposed civilian administrations.

About 15 million of Indonesia's 80 million people live in the eastern islands. Fifty million live in overpopulated Java.

It is in Java that Sukarno's "guided democracy" plan gets in strongest backing from the Communists and the Nationalist of Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo.

Sumatra is the richest of all the Indonesian islands. Earning up to 70 per cent of Indonesia's foreign exchange, it is a staunch anti-communist bastion.

Sumatran government officials say Communists from Malaya have established headquarters at Medan, Sumatra's capital, and are exploiting Sukarno's plan.

The officials said 10,000 guns have been distributed illegally to Indonesians affiliated with the Communist-controlled All Indonesian Trade Union Congress.

The weapons reportedly were a windfall to the Reds because of a feud between two Indonesian army colonels—Wahab Makmur, commander of the 2nd Regiment in north Sumatra, and Dmajin Gintings, commander in chief in north and central Sumatra.

Makmur, considered pro-Communist, was said to have approved distribution of the arms among the Reds.

Marion Artist Combines Craftsmanship, Design

Hand-Fashioned Chairs, Tables a Specialty of Harry Richardson

By WILLIAM VANCE

Old-fashioned craftsmanship combined with simplicity of design is Harry Richardson's formula for beautiful and usable pieces of furniture.

A former Marion resident, Mr. Richardson, with his wife Edecasion, and 15-month-old daughter, Aida, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Richardson of 184 Hughes St. His wife, whom he met and married while in service, is a native of the Philippines.

—:—

THEY RETURNED in December from the Philippines where Mr. Richardson spent four years on a Gund travel and education scholarship which he won at the Cleveland Institute of Art in 1952 for a stone carving of a wooly rhinoceros.

While visiting here, he is continuing his work in furniture design and manufacture which has been his main field for the past four years.

Mr. Richardson, who fashions furniture exclusively with hand tools, creates modern pieces with emphasis on comfort and simplicity.

IN THE PHILIPPINES, he designed the lobby, presidential suite and two offices for the Manila Hotel, and a large office for a Scandinavian airline.

He also designed and furnished the U.S. Embassy in Manila, plus many private homes and apartments.

A wide variety of materials with which to work intensified his interest in the Philippines. "There must be at least 120 different kinds of wood there," he said.

During his stay in the Philippines, Mr. Richardson worked mostly with Narra wood. Noted for its density and durability, it is found only in the Philippines.

His skill in designing and fashioning furniture is a relatively recent development. His background of artistic talent began while he was in grade school here studying art practice and woodworking.

—:—

"I FIRST became interested in furniture design about four years ago in the Philippines," he explained. "I still do sculpturing, ceramics work and painting as a hobby."

Throughout his parents' home are evidences of his skill. Paintings adorn the walls and he is applying for a patent on a chair he recently completed.

Before graduating from Harding High School in 1946, he was a track star, three-letter man in tumbling, a member of the Hi-Y, the Color Daubers and the Art Club.

He has long been active in sculpture and ceramics. At the Cleveland Institute of Art he concentrated in these areas and taught one summer session in ceramics.

DURING HIS TOUR of duty with the Army Air Corps in the Far East from 1946-49 he became highly interested in oriental art. He praised Japanese art especially for its delicacy and perfection, and predicts a rise in popularity of oriental art in the U.S.

The former Marionite said he has made no long-range plans for the future, but added that he intends to locate in San Francisco soon to continue his art work there.

APPLIES FINISHING TOUCHES. Harry Richardson, who recently returned to Marion after four years of study and travel in the Philippines, finishes a hand-fashioned center table at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Richardson of 184 Hughes St. A former Harding High School athlete, Mr. Richardson is skilled in sculpture, ceramics work and painting, as well as furniture making.

District Traffic Reports

One person was injured in one of four traffic accidents investigated Friday and early today by Marion police. One accident in the county was reported by state highway patrolmen.

Hazel Griffin, 43, of the Twin Oaks Trailer Park suffered a neck injury when her car was struck from the rear at 1:11 a.m. today at Delaware Ave. and S. Main St., police said. The other car was driven by Luther Perkins, 35, of Findlay.

Mrs. Griffin was taken to Marion General Hospital for treatment of her injury.

Stolen Car in Crash

Another city accident involved a police cruiser chasing a stolen automobile. It occurred at Park Blvd. and W. Church St. at 3:40 a.m. today. The police cruiser, driven by Patrolman Lowell Titus, 32, of 224 Reed Ave., was chasing the stolen automobile which skidded while attempting to make a left turn onto W. Church St. from Park Blvd., striking a sign post and coming to a stop in the path of the oncoming cruiser.

After the collision, the occupants of the stolen car drove off and the car later was found abandoned on W. Center St. The car, owned by Lawrence Gohering of Columbus, had been stolen from his driveway there Friday night.

Drivers Escape Injury

The intersection of Marion County Road 45 and a township road, one mile west of New Bloomington, was the scene of the single non-injury county accident investigated by patrolmen Friday. It occurred at 4:30 p.m.

A westbound auto driven by Willard C. Faffler, 27, of near New Bloomington, traveling on the county road, struck a vehicle driven by Lula B. Patton of Akron, which turned into its path from the township road, patrolmen indicated.

Moderate damage reportedly was done to both vehicles. The Patton driver was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court, March 8, on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Parked Car Hit

Two parked cars were struck by another car in the 700 block on Oak Grove Ave. at 10:20 p.m. Friday. They were owned by Larry Bryant of near Nevada and George Almendinger of 755½ Oak Grove Ave. The other car was driven by James Bartlett, 28, of 950 Oak Grove Ave.

A collision in the 500 block on N. Main St. at 9:26 a.m. Friday involved cars driven by L. S. Burley, 17, of near Marion, and R. P. Garner, 50, of Oak Harbor.

He was found by another roomer in the house, Frank Rapp, who called the inhalator squad. Dyer was taken to General Hospital in a police cruiser after the inhalator was operated five minutes successfully. He was treated and released.

Pilot Seeks Asylum

GRAZ, Austria (AP) — An officer of the Yugoslav air force has asked political asylum in Austria after landing his military plane near Bruck in the Austrian province of Styria. Austrian officials identified him as Capt. Blaz Munjko, 35, of Zagreb. He flew across the border Friday.

Temperature Expected To Fall Below Normal

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Weather Bureau said Friday its 30 day outlook for March calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the eastern half of the nation except for slightly above normal in New England.

Greatest departures below seasonal normals are indicated over the Midwest, the bureau said, adding:

"Areas west of the Continental Divide are expected to have prevailingly above normal temperatures. In areas not specified near normal averages are predicted.

"Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the southern third of the country and also east of the Appalachians. Subnormal amounts are indicated over the northern third of the nation westward from the Great Lakes. In the remaining area near normal amounts are in prospect."

Suspension Extended

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Cabinet today extended for 45 more days a suspension of constitutional guarantees.

The suspension was imposed for 45 days Jan. 15, the government said, to protect the sugar industry from threatened sabotage by "insurrectionists and Communists."

The youngsters noticed a sign on a house advertising puppies for sale but the owner wasn't home. So they left their $1.01 on the table and took the two puppies on a serve-yourself basis. When their parents found out about it they returned the dogs, valued at $50 apiece, to the owner—and the kids got their $1.01 back.

Senate

bill to provide new money for the program comes along later.

Lausche said he could not support the Russell amendment to delete special authority. He said he reached this decision only five minutes before he rose in the Senate to speak.

Lausche urged his colleagues to back the resolution, in which he said no language could have been used that would be "weaker" than that saying the United States is prepared to use troops, if necessary, to combat Communist aggression in the Middle East.

The Ohio senator said this was merely offering support to the President in any decision he might have to make and could not be construed as any commitment.

He spoke after Eisenhower appealed for support when the Senate votes on Russell's amendment.

Administration forces regard this vote as a major hurdle. In advance of the session, the resolution's supporters expressed confidence the amendment would be rejected by at least 15 votes.

Defeat of the amendment would pave the way for adoption of the resolution by an expected wide margin, probably next week. The Senate has been debating the resolution for two weeks.

In addition to the military-economic aid feature, the resolution would declare a readiness to use American armed forces to block any open Communist aggression in the area, provided a nation under attack asks for such aid and the President deems such a step to be necessary.

Approved by House

As passed overwhelmingly by the House last month, the resolution contained the military-economic aid provisions.

Sponsors of the amendment aimed at stripping the military-economic aid provisions from the resolution, are Democratic Sens. Russell of Georgia, Byrd of Virginia, Stennis of Mississippi and Anderson of New Mexico.

However, a number of Democratic senators, as well as many Republicans, are opposed to the amendment.

Sponsors of the amendment contend the 200 millions might be only the first installment on a much bigger aid program that they contend could run into billions of dollars. Secretary of State Dulles has sought to reassure them that this is not going to happen.

Bible Workshop Set

"Pioneering With Christ" is the theme for the second in a series of Vacation Bible School workshops conducted in Marion by the Hines Christian Supply House. The material will be presented by Gospel Light Press and the sessions will be Tuesday at Oakland EUB Parish House.

Arrangements for the two identical sessions have been made for 1:30 p.m. and 7:30. Anyone interested in working in Vacation Bible Schools during the summer will be welcome to attend.

behind the withdrawing Israelis.

However, the Israeli government was meeting some internal resistance to its withdrawal decision. The right wing Herut Freedom party Friday night called in Tel Aviv for nationwide demonstrations today against the decision. The Herut party is the second largest in Israel.

Arab envoys who conferred with Dulles Friday came away telling newsmen they would "wait and see" how the Israeli withdrawal develops.

The United States was anxious to convince the Arabs it had made no secret promises or concessions to win Israeli agreement to leave the Gaza and Aqaba areas.

This country has taken the position that Israel should make an unconditional withdrawal from the disputed areas. But it has offered assurances of support for moves to prevent any more Egyptian commando attacks on Israel from Gaza and to back efforts to get free navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba, blockaded by the Egyptians for six years before the Israelis moved in.

Rev. Zimmerman To Talk at Parley

Rev. L. L. Zimmerman, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene in Marion, will be one of the speakers for the denomination's annual Central District Sunday School convention at Columbus Tuesday. Delegations from both First and Kensington Churches here and from churches throughout the area will attend the sessions at First Church of the Nazarene at King and Hunter Aves. in the capital city. There are 121 churches in the district.

Church School specialists from three neighboring Nazarene districts will take part in the meetings arranged for 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. and 7. The Central District head, Rev. Harvey S. Galloway, will speak in the afternoon. Pictures of camp and caravan work will be shown at night. Rev. Zimmerman's theme will be, "Tying That Knot."

Man Killed in Brawl

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said a street brawl outside a cafe in the "over the Rhine" district Friday night ended with one man dead.

He was tentatively identified as "Skinny" Williams, 23. Officers said cafe patrons planned to take the man to a hospital, but he died in the car before the trip was started.

Stamp Show Slated

The Columbus Philatelic Club will play host to the stamp collectors of central Ohio at their annual stamp exhibit and bourse, scheduled in the main ballroom of the Southern Hotel, March 9 and 10.

That's what 3-year-old Donna Louise Zeiner, Pottstown, Pa., is about to do after she ran over her doll with a toy fire truck. She picked up the pieces, put them on a table and then realized her favorite doll was smashed. A photographer, visiting the family, caught the expression just as full realization struck Donna.

Middle East

Leaders of the leftist Socialist Schdut Avoda (Labor Unity) party also have renewed an earlier threat to pull their two ministers from Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion's coalition cabinet. A final decision is scheduled to be made at a party meeting tomorrow.

In Cairo, Egyptian officials said they would "wait and see" what comes from the Israeli announcement. Most officials who expressed themselves said they wanted to know whether the United States had made any undisclosed promises or concessions to Israel, despite Dulles' disclaimer.

There was general agreement in Cairo that much negotiating still must be done before the Israeli-Egyptian dispute settles down.

Despite all these reservations from various quarters, most delegates at U.N. headquarters were jubilant over what they considered a break in the four-month Middle East deadlock. Western diplomats hailed Israel's announcement as a turning point in the crisis.

Bus Routes Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Utilities Commission Friday granted Buckeye Stages, Inc., of Norwalk permission to cut 153 miles of bus routes through northwest Ohio. The company kept two routes—Findlay to Toledo via Fostoria, Tiffin and Fremont, and Findlay to Sandusky via Fostoria, Tiffin, Fremont and Bellevue.

License Sale Nets County $405,175

Marion County received a total of $405,175 in 1956 as its share of automobile license tag money distributed to the state's 88 counties, according to a report by State Auditor James A. Rhodes. The sum divided among the counties amounted to $58,109,433, the report indicates.

Money received from this source is used for the maintenance and repair of highways, roads and streets in the municipalities and townships.

Counties bordering on Marion received the following amounts last year: Crawford, $391,443; Delaware, $296,762; Hardin, $283,616; Morrow, $221,200; Union, $262,612, and Wyandot, $242,587.

The distribution to the counties and their subdivisions is made on the basis of auto tag registrations by residents of these various subdivisions, regardless of where in the state the plates are bought, Mr. Rhodes points out.

Marionite Arrested

Leo Wallace, 47, of 593 Ballentine Ave. was arrested by city police at 8:25 p.m. Friday at the Veterans Memorial Coliseum on a charge of disorderly conduct. Police said they caught him looking in an outside window of the women's restroom. He is slated to appear in Municipal Court Monday.

Presidents Handed 70-53 Reversal by Mansfield

Shelby Rolls Past Madison For Second District Berth

By JOHN SHORT

Mansfield ruined Harding's bid for a share of sectional cage honors here last night by routing the Presidents 70-53 before 3,286 paid fans at the Coliseum.

Shelby, running true to form, recorded a 67-54 verdict over a game but outclassed Mansfield Madison crew. As a result of last night's wins, the Tygers and Shelby will meet the co-winners of the Sandusky Sectional here next Friday and Saturday with a berth in the Toledo Regional the prize.

Control of the boards was the biggest factor in the Presidents' setback by Vern Hoffman's bruising Tygers. As a team, Harding was credited with 35 rebounds during the contest, 15 offensively and 20 on defense. The Tygers' 6-5 Kent Phillips and 6-3 Dave Bourns finished with 28 rebounds between them.

THE TYGERS jumped away fast and, after being tied at 2-2 on a layup by Everett Shaffstall, moved ahead to stay. They were never seriously threatened. Hitting on 10 of their first 22 shots from the field, the winners led by a 23-14 margin after one quarter of play. Phillips pumped in nine points during that first period rush.

Hitting at a 7 for 17 clip in the second stanza, Mansfield moved well ahead of the Prexies with a 4 for 13 mark to hold a comfortable 41-26 halftime margin.

An eight-point spurt early in the third quarter pumped life back into the Prexies but only for a brief stretch. They managed to cut their deficit to nine points, 43-34, but the Tygers' superior rebounding strength then regained the edge. By the end of the quarter, Hoffman's crew had moved into a 54-39 edge.

Forty-one fouls were called during the contest, 20 against the Prexies and 21 against Mansfield. Harding lost the services of Everett Shaffstall, Jed Middleton and Joel Sharp while the winners lost Dick Carver and Bourns.

Phillips collected 21 points to lead the winners' scoring with Jerry Hallabrin dropping in 16 and Bourns finishing with 10. For Harding, Jed Middleton was the big gun with 13 points. Phil Sykes finished with 11.

BOTH TEAMS finished with 39 per cent shooting averages with the winners canning 26 of 66 attempts. Harding was limited to 48 shots and hit on 19. Time after time, Harding shots were blocked by the taller Tygers before they were gotten away. At the foul line, Coach Jim Gibson's charges hit on 15 of 28 for a 52 per cent average.

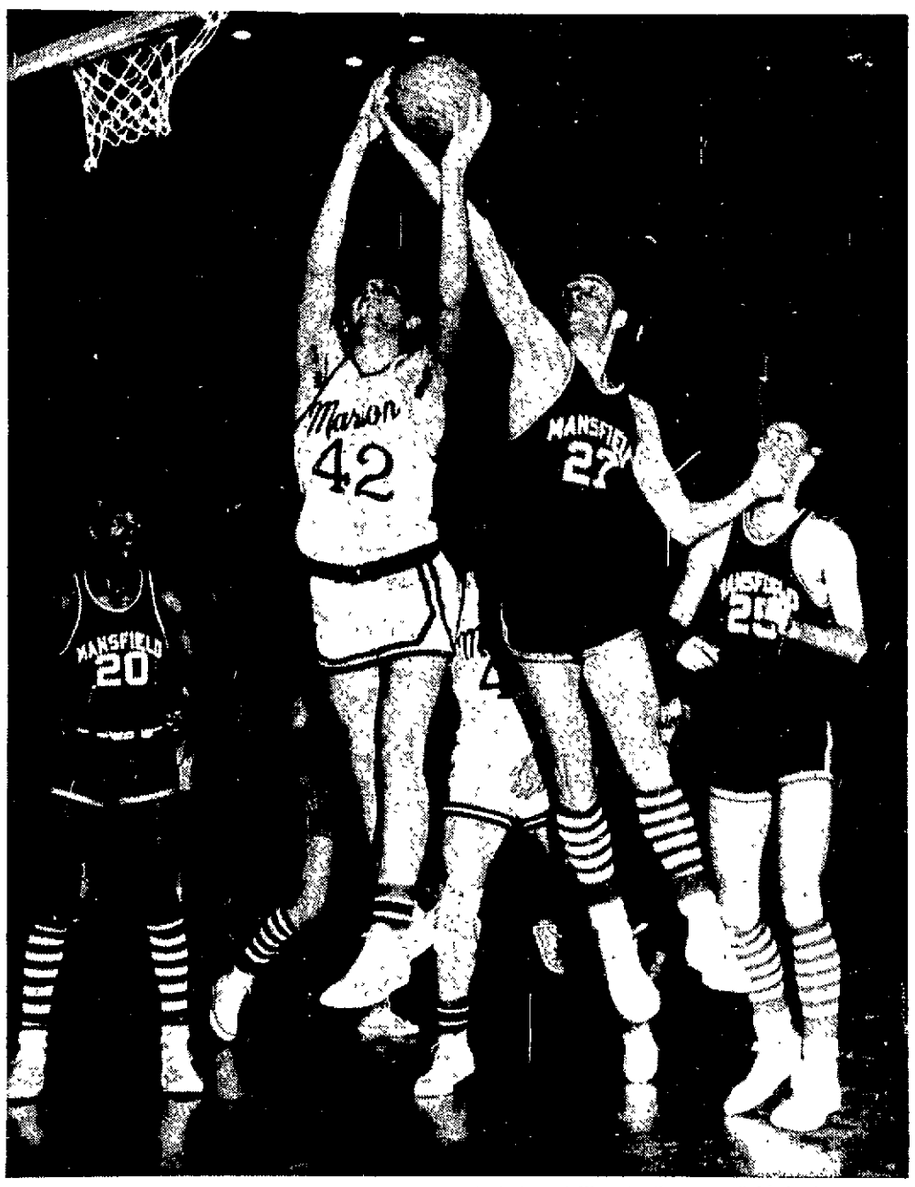
Sykes was credited with 3 of 11 field goal attempts for a 27 per cent mark, Shaffstall with three of seven for 43 per cent. Bob Middleton with three of six for 50 per cent, Jed Middleton with 4 of 11 for 36 per cent, Vaughn Williams with two of three for 66 per cent and Sharp with three of eight for 33 per cent.

The loss closes Harding's season with 11 wins and eight setbacks, the best record, percentagewise, posted at Harding since the 11-5 record during the 1949-50 campaign. Four seniors saw their final action as Prexies in the tussle. They were Jed Middleton and Sykes, co-captains of the squad, Tom Mercer and Sharp.

In the opening game, the scrappy Madison squad limited All-Ohio Larry Siegfried to a pair of field goals and two free throws in the opening period and as a result moved into a 13-8 edge.

However, the Shelby ace, with a man in front and one behind

(Turn to HARDING, Page 12)



STILL IN CONTENTION. Harding's Prexy quintet, before falling to the Mansfield Seniors, 70-53, Friday night in sectional Class AA play, had moments during which they looked like contenders. One of those moments occurred when the above shot was taken of Harding's Everett Shaffstall (42), grabbing a rebound off the Mansfield board. Reaching to prevent the possession is Mansfield's Dave Bourns (27). Looking on is Kent Phillips (25), and Don Ragsdale (20). The Prexies' Bob Middleton (44) is waiting to help.

Nary Moves Out Front in Golf Tourney

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Lanky Bill Nary, predicting "two more 69s if I keep hitting the shots as well," today took a one-stroke lead into the third round of the $15,000 sixth annual Baton Rouge Open golf tourney.

Close behind the Wayne, Mich., veteran were two other old pros and a comparative newcomer. Nary opened with a 69 Thursday. A five-under-par 67 Friday gave him a two-day total of 136.

Bright sunshine and a slight breeze created good playing conditions over the 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course and the weatherman promised more of the same today.

Jimmy Demaret, 45, of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., matched Nary's 67 to pull within one stroke of the lead.

Lloyd Mangrum, 42, of Apple Valley, Calif., and Fred Hawkins, 33, of El Paso, Tex., a relative newcomer to the PGA circuit, were tied at 138. Both shot 68s Friday.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., tied for first day lead, soared Friday to par 72 for a 140 total.

Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N.Y., tied with Palmer Friday morning, zoomed to 74 for 142 after 36 holes.

Best round of the day came from Freddy Haas of New Orleans, who had a sizzling 66. It was 11 strokes better than his first round score.

Dayton Downs Cincinnati for Win in Finale

By The Associated Press

Dayton wrapped up its regular basketball season Friday night by thrashing Cincinnati 67-63 in the Bearcats' hometown. Both are headed for the National Invitation Tournament.

In other games, Wittenberg defeated Muskingum 71-62, Ohio University easily beat Marietta 112-85, Steubenville glided 73-61 over Adelphi, Eastern Michigan squeezed past Baldwin-Wallace 78-75 and Wayne State of Detroit knocked off John Carroll 83-69.

Dayton's Flyers fought off Cincinnati's second half rally sparked by little Don Lane with 24 points —14 in the first half when Dayton set up a 38-31 lead.

The Bearcats tied the score six times in the first half and twice more in the second but never took command. Mike Mendenhall was top scorer for Cincinnati with 17 points.

Wittenberg was paced by Terry Dean and Bernie Thompson, each with 21 points. Lennie Nelson led the Muskies with 20. The game was in New Concord.

Ohio U.'s 6-4 forward Fred Moore scored 45 points in the Bobcats' crush of host Marietta. Gene Nangle scored 26 to lead the Pioneers.

Steubenville's home court win over Adelphi of Garden City, N. Y, made it 41 victories in a row at home. Six-foot-six Jim Smith led the Barons with 20 points. Marty Fund was top scorer for Adelphi, also with 20 points.

In Ypsilanti, Mich., two shots in the closing minute by Bill Stephens gave Eastern Michigan its edge over Baldwin-Wallace.

Wildlife Week Program Set Across Country March 17-23

COLUMBUS — "Homes for Wildlife" is the slogan for this year's National Wildlife Week, to be observed March 17-23. The slogan bespeaks a conservation problem, according to wildlife authorities.

The problem centers in the fact that our feathered and four-footed friends of the wild need homes to survive, and what people have done to wildlife habitat shouldn't happen to a dog. And as a matter of fact, it hasn't because dogs can live in the back yards. garages, basements or living rooms of human houses, but wildlife can't.

Deer, pheasants, rabbits, squirrels, quail, grouse and other wild creatures require homes in the woods and fields and marshes in order to survive and rear their families. Even the fishes that are so dear to the heart of the angler need more than water to find a home. If wildlife homes are cut, burned, drained, silted or polluted, the result is obvious: No wildlife. It is in fact, all too obvious in too much of America.

That is the reason for having National Wildlife Week, according to Herbert B. Eagon, Director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, and Hayden W. Olds, Chief, Ohio Division of Wildlife, who, together with Gov. C. William O'Neill, believe the purpose is to get more people thinking about conservation problems and fired up to do something about them.

Every citizen can find ways to make new wildlife homes, to restore wildlife habitat that has been destroyed, or to protect the existing habitat. Here are some of the ways:

If you are a landowner or manager, you can make plantings along fence rows, stream banks or waterways, around ponds or in woodlots to provide wildlife food and cover. "Cover" is a wildlife technician's term for "Home," meaning a place where a wild animal can hide from its enemies, take shelter from bad weather, rest, or rear its young. If you are a sportsman you can carry out such projects on the farms of friends where you hunt.

Sportsman's Clubs, by pooling their manpower, can make lots of wildlife habitat. So can Boy Scout troops and other youth groups by pooling their boy-power. All such housing projects need a skilled architect and he can be found through your State Division of Wildlife. The State employs biologists who know what kind of cover each species of wildlife requires, and how to plant it or construct it.

If you are a city dweller with a backyard or garden, you can still make some wildlife homes. You can make new nesting places for a variety of songbirds. The National Wildlife Federation and Division of Wildlife can tell you how to do it.

It is emphasized that every citizen, no matter where he lives or what his occupation, can help save and create wildlife homes by taking an active interest in the conservation programs of State and Federal agencies.

Pandas Suffer 81-71 Loss To Seeded Ashville Squad

By ALLAN BOVEY

Pleasant was defeated by Ashville, 81-71, and Elm Valley fell to Danville, 78-72, in district Class A tournament action Friday night in Westerville. The losses eliminated the last of Marion County's entries in the tourney, and leaves Marysville, Union County representative, the only area team still in contention.

By virtue of their triumphs, sixth-seeded Ashville will meet top-seeded Newark St. Francis Tuesday night, while Danville will clash with Pleasantville in Monday night action.

BOTH PLEASANT'S Pandas and the Elm Valley Aces gave home fans plenty to cheer about before finally succumbing to their respective opponents' superiority. Coach Stan Kirby's Pleasant cagers took over the lead against the Broncos on several occasions in the seesaw the middle stages of that game and as late as 2:10 in the third frame had climbed into a 49-49 tie.

Elm Valley might well have won their game. As it was, it rallied from a 67-51 third quarter deficit to come perilously close to rattling Danville into submission.

Pleasant turned in a sparkling performance on both offense and defense against the favored Ashville quintet, and there were moments when it looked like the Kirbymen might have an upset in the making. By game's end, however, the Pandas had found the job of sticking to Bronco saddles.

The Broncos led at each quarter, outscoring Pleasant 19-18 in the opener, taking a 41-35 lead at halftime, and a 57-50 margin going into the finale. Getting the feel of things after the initial frame, Ashville rolled in 22 points in the second quarter, added 16 in the third and 26 in the finale. Pleasant banged in 17 scores in the second session, 15 in the third and 21 in the fourth.

IN ALL, ASHVILLE poured 27 goals and 27 free throws through the Panda nets. Pleasant hit 19 completions from the field and added 33 tallies at the foul line. The overall foul shooting accounted for 60 poiints as both teams exhibited commendable accuracy. The Broncos got their 27 on 41 attempts for 65 per cent while Pleasant dumped in 33 of 45 chances for 73 per cent.

A total of 49 fouls was called, 22 against Pleasant and 27 against Ashville. The Broncos lost Dick Hoover, Dick Miller and Bob Hoover via the foul route while Pleasant's Dick Dutt and Don Miller also were banished.

Sparking the Panda effort was the indomitable Sharrel Leffler, who turned in the night's scoring high of 29 points on seven goals and 15 charity shots. Leffler was more than a match for his Ashville counterparts under the boards and was instrumental in keeping the Pandas in contention late in the game. Another Pleasant standout was Jeff Peacock, who hit for 18 tallies and played a bangup game on defense, although hampered by an ankle sprain. Miller accounted for 12 Panda digits.

Ashville's fine scoring balance was topped by Walt Myers' 21 points. Dick Hoover got 18, Dick Miller 14, Larry Fullen 12, and Bob Hoover 11.

THE SCORE was tied three times in the fast breaking action, though the count changed hands at least fives times. Pleasant made its big bid in the third quarter. Down by a 41-35 count at intermisssion, the Pandas rallied behind the scoring punch of Leffler and Peacock to pull up on the Broncos. Merle Dutt's goal tied it up at 49-49 with 2:10 left in the quarter. At that point, however, Pleasant appeared to have given its all and Ashville, racking up six quick points, went on to pile up the winning margin.

Elm Valley almost pressed Danville out of a victory that had already been conceded by most of the fans. The Aces found themselves behind, 16-10, at the quarter, still down by a 32-24 count

GOING, GOING, GOING. Basketballers, if not most fans, know the hardcourt game is no powderpuff affair. Several incidents in Friday night's game between Harding's Prexies and the Mansfield Seniors emphasized again the ruggedness of the sport. Here Harding's Jed Middleton (12), starts floorward after having been hit by Mansfield's Kent Phillips (25). The loose ball is between the two cagers. Looking on is the Prexies' Tom Mercer (22), and Phil Sykes.

Harding

him, drew five fouls in the second stanza and finished the eight-minute stretch with a 14-point production to lead his mates into a 32-24 cushion at the half.

BEFORE THE game had ended, Siegfried had poured 34 markers through the hoops, including 18 straight from the foul lines.

Don Loveless came off the bench in the second period to follow Siegfried in the scoring column with 11 for the Whippets, Tom Craze, 5-9 scoring ace, was the losing Rams' big gun, hitting for 16 points. He also was a defensive standout, hampering the taller Shelby team's offensive thrust throughout the game.

The Whippets scored on 23 of 62 shots from the field for a 37 per cent mark and added 21 of 26 fouls. The Rams finished with 18 of 49 from the field for 36 per cent and collected 18 of 29 charity tries.

Robert S. Brown, city school superintendent, presented co-championship trophies from the Northwest District Athletic Board to the Shelby and Mansfield teams.

The two winners will be pitted against the Sandusky champs here Friday. Tiffin Columbian walloped Norwalk 71-52 and Sandusky tripped Vermillion 68-64 in those finals last night. Drawings for the district action were scheduled at Harding High School at 2 p.m. today.

Galionite Named To Houston Post

GALION — Of interest here is the appointment of a former Galion star athlete, Casto Ramsey, to the position of backfield coach in football at the University of Houston, Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilman Ramsey of Galion.

Ramsey has been head football coach for four years at Emory and Henry College at Emory, Va. His football team last season won the championship and Ramsey was named coach of the year of the Little Laurel League.

Ramsey is 36 years old and was graduated from Galion High School in 1938. He was football captain of the North Central Ohio League championship team that year and played varsity basketball. He is married and has a son and a daughter. At present he is spending five weeks in Houston with spring football training but will return to complete his year at Emory and Henry.

He was graduated from King College at Bristol, Tenn., and received his master's degree at the University of West Virginia.

Crawford County Outdoor Group in Pheasant Projects

BUCYRUS — A maximum of 1,800 four-week old pheasants may be obtained from the state for rearing and release in Crawford County if all sportsmen's groups in the county cooperate in the construction of rearing pens. State Game Protector Emory Jividen, informed the Crawford County Conservation League at its monthly meeting this week.

Jividen, who lives in Mansfield and recently was assigned as game protector for Crawford County, said the pheasants would be released within the county.

League members plan to erect a second pheasant-rearing pen near Bucyrus. Last year, the league raised and released 360 state-supplied pheasants.

A rearing pen also will be built near Galion by the Crawford County Coon Hunters and Sportsmen's Association.

Attic Fan Helps To Cool House on Summer Night

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

There's hardly a time of the year when everybody isn't talking about the weather . . . one way or another.

But there's never a time when the conversation about the weather is as verbose as it is during the hot summer months. Americans who once used to accept sizzling temperatures as something that had to be endured are now trying to do something about it.

Time Is Ripe

Some, planning future homes, are thinking in terms of houses which will be cooler than their present ones. Others are figuring out ways and means of dropping the summer temperatures in the dwellings they now occupy.

Just how a home owner goes about a cooling his house depends to a large degree on how much money he wants to spend for the job. One of the least expensive methods is the installation of an exhaust fan to cool the attic and draw air throughout the house. And this is the time of the year to consider whether such an installation will provide the answer to your summer problem.

Waiting until it actually becomes unbearably hot before deciding what to do usually results in a hasty decision and perhaps (especially if you do the installing yourself) a hurry-up job.

On a hot summer day, attic temperature might easily run as high as 130 degrees, even more. Normal insulation will bring this temperature down somewhat, but there is so much absorption of heat by the walls and ceiling that sleeping may still be uncomfortable.

An attic cooling system keeps the air moving during the day and prevents much of this absorption, producing a considerably lower temperature at night — not only in the attic, but throughout the house. In addition, there is a constant flow of fresh air for easier breathing and an increase in evaporation of body perspiration, two factors that aid in getting a good night's sleep.

The first question to be decided is what size the fan must be to provide adequate cooling. This depends on the size of the house and the number of complete air changes desired each minute.

One air change per minute is recommended throughout most of the United States, but satisfactory results may be obtained with one change every minute and a half in the extreme northeast and northwest sections.

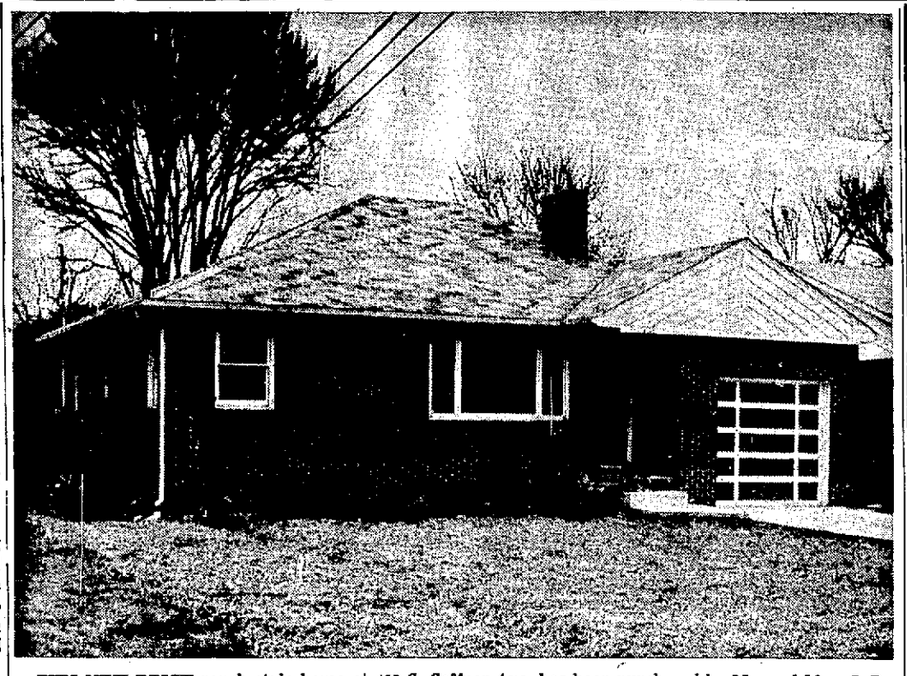
Each fan bears a tag telling how many cubic feet of air it will displace per minute. To determine the cubic feet of your house, multiply the width times the length times the height of every room and add them up.

The ideal spot for location of the fan is in the center of the house . . . in the second floor ceiling, for instance, if a two-story house. The flow of air must be unrestricted. If located close to a wall, or in a corner, the fan capacity may be greatly reduced.

Needs Exhaust Openings

There must be adequate exhaust openings if the fan is to be effective at all. The actual area of these openings is determined by several factors, such as whether the louvres are constructed of wood or metal, the thickness of the louvres or whether it is to be a completely unobstructed opening.

Instructions on how to install specific fans are contained in the cartons housing the fans when they leave the factory. Where local codes and ordinances govern electrical installations such as these, a licensed electrician can do the necessary wiring while the home handyman does the rest of the job.



THIS NEW BRICK ranch style home at 409 S. Seffner Ave. has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hedding of near Caledonia. It was recently completed by Berry and Morgan, local builders. Harry F. Kaelber, local real estate agent, handled the sale. The home has three bedrooms, a living room with guest closet and fireplace, mahogany kitchen with built-in oven, dinette, a tile bath and linen closet, basement, gas furnace and attached garage.

First Aid for Ailing House

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Late last summer, I went up on the roof of the apartment house I take care of. At that time, it looked OK. But recently I went up again to make a routine inspection, and found a big blister shaped bulge and split roofing paper. How can I fix this so the roof won't leak, and also prevent more blisters from forming.

A: Since this blister has already split, insert roofing cement through the slit and under the loosened area, and press the roofing paper back into place, weighting it down. To preserve and protect the rest of the roof, I suggest covering it with roofing cement. If the tenants are accustomed to using the roof, it would be wise to give the roof a more durable covering than roofing paper, or at least provide wooden walkways of the "boardwalk" type. Otherwise, you'll probably have to replace the roofing every two or three years.

Q: I have a one-pipe, tubular steam boiler. I've gone over the entire system—valves, packing, nuts and vent valves, tightened everything possible, and still have to add water every day. I also have used two cans of a well - known "leak stopper." There are no visible signs near the boiler or around any connection. Can you give me any ideas as to what is wrong?

A: There is a possibility of a leak in the boiler water return pipe under the cellar floor. Such a leak would not be apparent. I assume you have checked the boiler tubes.

Q: We have a nice old glass decanter which hasn't been used for several years. Last week I tried to remove the stopper, but it seems to be firmly stuck. I'm afraid to use force, because I don't want to risk breaking the glass. Can you advise me about what to do?

A: The first thing you might try is putting a few drops of light oil or glycerin around the edge of the stopper and letting it stay there a few days, in the hope it may work down inside and act as a lubricant. If you have no luck with this treatment hold the neck of the decanter under fairly warm water, keeping the stopper out of the way. This gentle heat may be enough to expand the neck so you can draw out the stopper. If the decanter is valuable, as you imply, I suggest that the next step would be to take it to a professional accustomed to handling antiques, and let him take over.

Q: We had the neighborhood handyman lay linoleum in our kitchen and back entry. He did what looked like a good, neat job, but now there are several places where the linoleum has come loose from the floor. These areas look like big blisters. Since the man who did the job has left the vicinity, it looks as though it will be up to us to fix this ourselves. Is a repair difficult?

A: No, it's not a difficult repair to make (although there's no guaranteeing that other blisters won't crop up somehwere else). With a sharp knife, and a linoleum knife is much preferred, make a slit across each bulge. Then, using a long, thin blade—such as a narrow spatula or kitchen knife—work linoleum cement through the slit, getting it on the underside of the linoleum and on the floor or felt underlayment. Press the loose linoleum back into place and weight it heavily. Be sure to wipe up any cement which oozes through the slit; this must be done promptly — if the cement is allowed to dry, it will be almost impossible to remove without damaging the linoleum itself.

Good Investment

The growing of trees is one of the best investments available today, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. The association suggests tree growing as an excellent hedge against inflation, since the trees and the land on which they stand are likely to appreciate in value as the economy expands.

Older Home Is Gaining Favor, Realtor Claims

Cites Better Finance Terms, Conveniences Of Existing Domiciles

Easier to finance in many cases and frequently offering more convenient living than a new house, the existing home is growing in buyer appeal, Aulton G. Cook, president of the Marion Real Estate Board, said today.

The local Realtors' executive cited both area and national market experience in support of his assertion of the growing popularity of older houses.

Cites Research Reports

"According to the latest research reports of our National Association of Real Estate Boards," Mr. Cook said, "increasing numbers of families throughout the nation are turning to the purchase of existing homes in good condition. They have been attracted more frequently to homes in the suburbs, but well - maintained units located close in have also been selling well."

On the basis of a survey of 250 selected communities throughout the nation, NAREB found that while the sales of such housing in suburbs were moving at the same level as a year ago in 46 per cent of the country, sales had increased in 27 per cent of the communities. Well cared for older houses in more central locations were found to be selling in greater volume in 19 per cent of the country.

"A part of the demand for older existing homes is unquestionably explained by their lower price range compared to many new houses," Mr. Cook explained. "But in addition, two new factors have been brought into prominence by recent developments.

"The first of these is the current condition of the mortgage loan market. As is generally known, mortgage loans at low interest rates are hard to arrange Because of this, there has been a marked drop in the number of mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration At present, such government-backed loans carry 5 and 4½ per cent interest, and many lenders prefer making loans returning more interest In this situation, increasing numbers of home buyers have bought existing houses and assumed their mortgages which were consummated years ago at low interest rates."

Can Assume Mortgage

Under both the FHA and the VA programs, the Marion real estate board president pointed out, procedures have been established through which the person buying an existing home with a government-backed mortgage can assume that mortgage, provided he can meet the credit and other requirements of the two agencies Mr. Cook said that this is being done in a "substantial" number of transfers involving existing houses

"The second factor working to the advantage of the existing house as a good buy in today's market" the Realtors' executive declared, "is what might be called its superior living conveniences By that I mean the sum total of the advantages enjoyed by a person who buys into an established community"

Mr. Cook cited as examples of these advantages the following

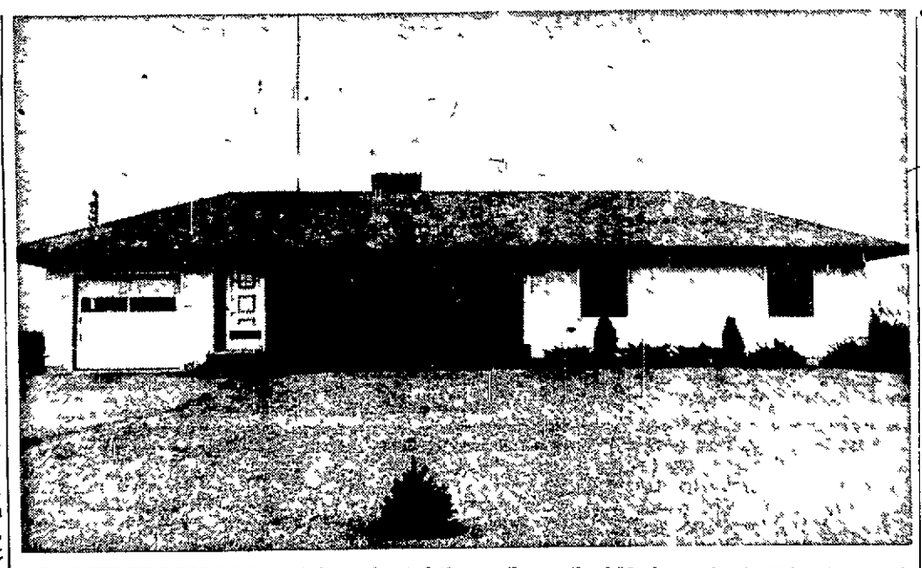
1 The fact that streets, sewers, and utilities were completed long ago in established communities whereas this may not be true in many newer developments.

2. The likelihood of a greater access to public transportation from the existing home to the wage earner's place of business In many cases, newer communities must wait for years before bus service is extended to them. The use of public transportation over an extended period of time can result in a substantial personal saving to the individual.

3. The probability that the schools in the established community will be adequate to the demands made upon them in terms of pupil capacity. In many newer developments, constant growth has made schools lag behind constantly - growing pupil enrollment with the inevitable need for double sessions and other make - shift arrangements which may have to be continued for some time

4 Greater convenience in shopping in the established community. Because it has been in existence for years, complete and self-contained shopping centers have grown up in many of these neighborhoods This makes it possible for the housewife to do the daily shopping without the need for extensive driving in heavy traffic—in fact, in many areas she will be able to walk to and from the shopping center.

"In sum total," Mr. Cook concluded, "it is this possibility of more advantageous financing plus these conveniences of living for every member of many families that has brought the existing home to its present prominence in the residential market."



THIS THREE-BEDROOM ranch home located three miles south of Marion on Route 23 has been sold to Mr. and Mrs Walter Slob of 382 N. State St. by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy R. Reynolds It has a large living room with fireplace and oak panel wall, tile bath, dining room, birch kitchen, hardwood floors, full basement with recreation room and oil furnace, attached two-car garage and about an acre of land Mr Slob is a partner in the Slob and Bierce Welding Co on N. State St Mr. Reynolds, who is leaving town, was an engineer with the Marion Power Shovel Co. Representing both parties in the transaction was Clifford E Hoch of the Hoch Real Estate Agency.

Additional plans for the Exchange Club sponsored Home Show were made during a business meeting of the group Friday noon at Hotel Harding

With the sale of booths for the event almost complete, it is estimated that the largest number of booths ever to be shown will be on hand for the three-day event in April at the Coliseum

Using Hardboards

Tips on Home Repairs

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

DO . . . use 3-16 inch of ¼ inch thicknesses when applying panels as walls over open framing.

DO . . . space wall framing members no greater than 16 inches on center In attaching the panel, nail the center first, edges last Use finishing nails, countersinking and puttying the holes after the prime coat, if you wish.

DO . . . provide solid backing when using panels of ⅛ inch thickness. In making wall applications of ⅛ inch thick hardboards or predecorated hardboards, use a waterproof of tileboard adhesive or a waterproof linoleum cement, spreading with a saw-tooth trowel, use suitable woodworking glue for workshop projects, making sure that surfaces are in firm contact until adhesive sets

DO . . . cut with exposed surface up when using handsaw or table saw and exposed surface down when using portable power saw; a crosscut handsaw and a crosscut or combination blade power saw are recommended.

DON'T . . . toenail pressed wood or use it as a nailing base; also avoid nailing into panel edges or closer than ¼ inch to the edges

DON'T . . . attempt to make compound bends, sticking to simple, one-direction bends which are easily made around a form

DON'T . . force panels into place or butt them tightly.

DON'T . . . use acoustical-type cement or permit adhesive to get on the face of the panel.

New Trend in Ceilings

A new trend toward the use of wood for paneling ceilings is reported by the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. One method involves the use of 16-inch by 32-inch hardwood plywood panels, one-eighth or one-quarter inch thick. The panels are attached to a furring strip framework with either nails or contact cement.

Shellac Patching Saves Re-Doing Entire Floor

When a shellacked floor shows wear and tear in spots, it is possible to patch it without re-doing the entire area. With steel wool and a floor cleaner designed for the purpose, carefully remove all wax or oil polish from the sections that are to be repaired.

Let the surface dry thoroughly, then cover the worn areas with two coats of shellac. The second coat may be applied within four hours of the first. You'll find that the patched areas blend in with the rest of the floor.

Atomic Submarine Set For Its First Refueling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy admiral says the atomic submarine Nautilus will get a new supply of nuclear fuel "in a few days" — the first refueling for the undersea craft which has logged 50,000 miles in two years.

Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover said Friday the atomic core of the Nautilus' nuclear engine had been removed and that a new one would be installed shortly.

Rickover said "we know exactly how much fuel was used" in the ship's operations over the last two years, but he declined to disclose the amount.

Extra Storage Space Built by House Owner

Enclosed Cabinets on Wall of Dining Room Cut Down Space Need

MINNEAPOLIS—"We just don't have enough space," the parents of the two children in the two-bedroom house said glumly.

That's a fairly common complaint in smaller American houses today. But Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vogel of Minneapolis, who had the problem, didn't just stand there and bemoan the fact that the house they moved into as newlyweds nine years ago was getting a mite too small.

Create More Space

With lumber and imagination, they created more space—although the walls of the house didn't bulge an inch.

The couple reasoned that a main part of their problem was "no place to put things" so that they would be out of the way, yet accessible for use. Their solution was one that many families, with only a few over-the-budget dollars to spend, could adapt to make better use of space in small houses, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

"We knew we couldn't push the walls out, so in effect, we used wood to sort of push them in," Mr. Vogel said. "We found that in some rooms a wall can serve as more than a room enclosure or background for decorating motif."

The Vogels made a "space detection" tour of the house and decided the dining room was a good place to start work. Mr. Vogel took a rule and discovered that built-in drawers, shelves and storage space 16 inches deep could line the entire wall around one window without affecting the utility of the room or furniture placement.

An engineer for the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co., Mr. Vogel could boast only amateur standing as a carpenter. Because the trim in their house was of a softwood species, he chose softwoods for the dining room wall project. Then he painted the finished product to match the rest of the trim and the walls.

Wife Is Happy

"It isn't a professional carpenter's job, but Mrs. Vogel is happy with it," he said. "She has the answer to the vexing storage problems for dishes, linens and the odds and ends that a growing family acquires."

The wall-to-wall, floor-to-ceiling space-getter in the dining room was so satisfactory that Mr. Vogel decided to give a similar transformation to the bedroom of his two daughters, Christine and Eileen. There he used an entire wall for wood built-ins. These provide storage space in shelves and drawers and include a built-in dressing table, the delight of the girls.

From his experience, Mr. Vogel concluded that it is not difficult for the amateur to select lumber and make simple built-in wall features to match almost any wood trim in the home.

"The rooms not only serve us better but they look better," he said. "The effect of beauty in the girls' bedroom is almost startling, as the built-ins match the pink and white originally used for the decorating motif."

Spray Colorful Finishes

Color-flecked and multi - color finishes are finding increased industrial and architectural uses. They are applied with spray guns to such items as TV sets, radios, furniture, home appliances — and now to walls. They have infinite color combinations. In addition, these finishes have been developed to resemble leather, cork, granite and many other materials.

The Weeder's Guide

Home Gardener Looks For Good Soil for Plants

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y.—There are, as every gardener knows, two kinds of soil. There is good soil, and there is bad soil. And, as every gardener also knows, one of the joys and challenges of the hobby is trying to turn our own bad or indifferent soil into good loam. (No gardener is ever quite happy with his dirt.)

Soil, of course, is important. It is really finely ground rock whose first function is to give growing things something in which to spread their roots, which in turn permits them to lift their leaves up to the sun.

Home for Bacteria

At the same time it provides a home for bacteria and other life which aids in the plant-food manufacturing process and it is constructed to allow water and air to come to the roots. And, finally, it stores plant foods in the raw and supports a complicated food manufacturing plant.

The whole growing process is such a delicate and interrelated function it seems a miracle that it usually works as well as it does. Certainly, it is no wonder that most of us are always trying to make our garden soil better.

Most of us fret over the type of soil with which we start. There are, at the extremes, two kinds. One is sandy — or gravelly — soil which carried too far is likely to mean soil so loosely constructed that water drains out of it too fast. At the other extreme is clay soil, composed of such fine particles that water is sealed out.

Obviously, one way to improve excessively loose soil is to add clay. Conversely, the addition of sand helps to open up clay soil.

Humus Important

One important component of any good growing soil is humus, and both sandy and clay-like soil may be improved by digging in extra quantities. For identification purposes, when this rich organic mixture of decayed leaves and other plant material has been made naturally — collected in bogs and in forests — it is invariably called humus.

When, however, a similar product has been made by man, it is called "compost." An all-around soil improver, the addition of this material to sandy soil serves to increase its ability to hold moisture. Added to a clay soil, it serves to bind the clay particles together, thus opening up the soil for entrance of air and water. The addition of lime, too, helps unseal clay soil, and so do several of the recently introduced soil "conditioners." The latter do little to improve sandy soils.

New home owners, preparing to start a lawn and spade up their gardens, can save money and backaches by investigating their own soil conditions in advance and making soil improvements at the start instead of spending years with patchy improvements and repairs.

Watch For Blooms

The dormant garden, never really more than cat-napping, will soon be full of spring vigor. Gardeners in the northern two-thirds of the nation should watch for the first tiny blooms of snowdrops, earliest crocuses and iris reticulata . . . continue to feed the birds on a regular schedule . . . sow window-sill pans of the slowest seeds . . . check burlap screens on evergreens to protect against drying spring winds and burning sunshine.

In the warmer southern climates, set out tender annuals if soil and air has warmed . . . finish up planting of new trees and shrubs . . . pick off faded azalea blooms and fertilize plants . . . make evergreen and shrub cuttings.

at halftime and in arrears, 67-51, going into the finale. Then, in a fourth quarter spurt of energy, the Aces put a full court press to work, stole the ball from Danville time and again and were within six points of shangri-la at game's end.

Danville, after the 16-point first quarter tally, hit for 16 counts in the second frame, blistered the Valley board for 35 tallies in the third, and had 11 for a chaser. The Aces, with 10 for a first period showing, got 14 in the second quarter, 27 in the third and 21 in the finale.

The victors got 33 goals and 12 charity shots, the latter from 33 attempts for 36 per cent. Elm Valley hit for 18 field completions, 16 free throws. Their foul shot percentage was 66, with 16 points from 29 attempts.

Fisher led his Valley mates with 23 points, while Lee got 17 and Martin 12. Larry Cline and Glen Turney both turned in 23 for Danville. Carl Workman had 19. Cline rolled in six straight goals in the third quarter to help Danville bury the Aces' defense. Elm Valley lost both Fisher and George Conklin late in the finale on fine miscues.

A total of 62 points was tallied in the blistering third period of the game, as both fives threw caution to the winds, went for the goals.

Offers 'Realistic' Spending Limits

Bill on Election Reform Submitted by Sen. Gore

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) Friday offered an election reform bill to fix presidential campaign spending limits at levels he said were "realistic."

The measure also would impose stringent new rules on political contributions and set up strict requirements for public disclosure both of spending by parties and candidates and of campaign gifts by individuals.

Gore called it "a tough bill to meet a tough and difficult situation."

Headed Subcommittee

In the last session Gore was chairman of the Senate Elections subcommittee, which conducted a detailed investigation of the 1956 campaign. It reported political spending last year of $33,185,725, and said the actual amount "far surpasses that figure."

The basic new presidential campaign spending limit in the bill would be 20 cents multiplied by the number of popular votes in the preceding presidential election.

This would mean, for instance, that the candidates for president and vice president on a party ticket could spend something over 12 million dollars in 1960 since the 1956 vote total was a little over 62 million.

Half this total could be spent by national committees and the other half by state and local committees.

Other Limitations

The bill also would impose limits on spending in primaries; there are none in this area now.

The limitation on contributions would be $1,000 in any year by an individual to or on behalf of all candidates for federal office. And not more than $250 of this could go to candidates for the Senate and House outside the contributors' home state.

Individuals who spend or contribute in excess of $500 in a year would be required to file reports with federal officials.

The limitation on spending by candidates for Congress would be 10 cents multiplied by the number of votes in the previous election for that office, but the limit would not be less than $50,000 for a statewide race or $12,500 in a congressional district.

Not more than 10 per cent of the authorized limit could be spent from the personal funds of the candidate and his spouse.

"A basic feature of the bill is that which imposes upon the candidate himself responsibility for the expenditures made in his behalf by committees supporting his candidacy," Gore said.

"No limitations, ceilings, or requirements of election law can be enforceable unless responsibility is definitely fixed. I believe it is necessary to fix this responsibility up the candidate himself."

If for any reason parents cannot attend the clinic designated for their school, they may take their child to any other clinic.

Parents are asked to fill in the blanks on the front of the preschool exam record which will be given out by the schools. Those who have not secured one may do so at the health office.

Parents may take their child to a private physician for a physical exam and return the record to the Wyandot County Health Department, or they may bring the child to the pre-school clinic.

Immunization for smallpox and a booster shot of triple vaccine (Whooping cough, tetanus and diphtheria) will be available. Triple vaccine is recommended if the child has not had any in the last three years.
